PREFACE

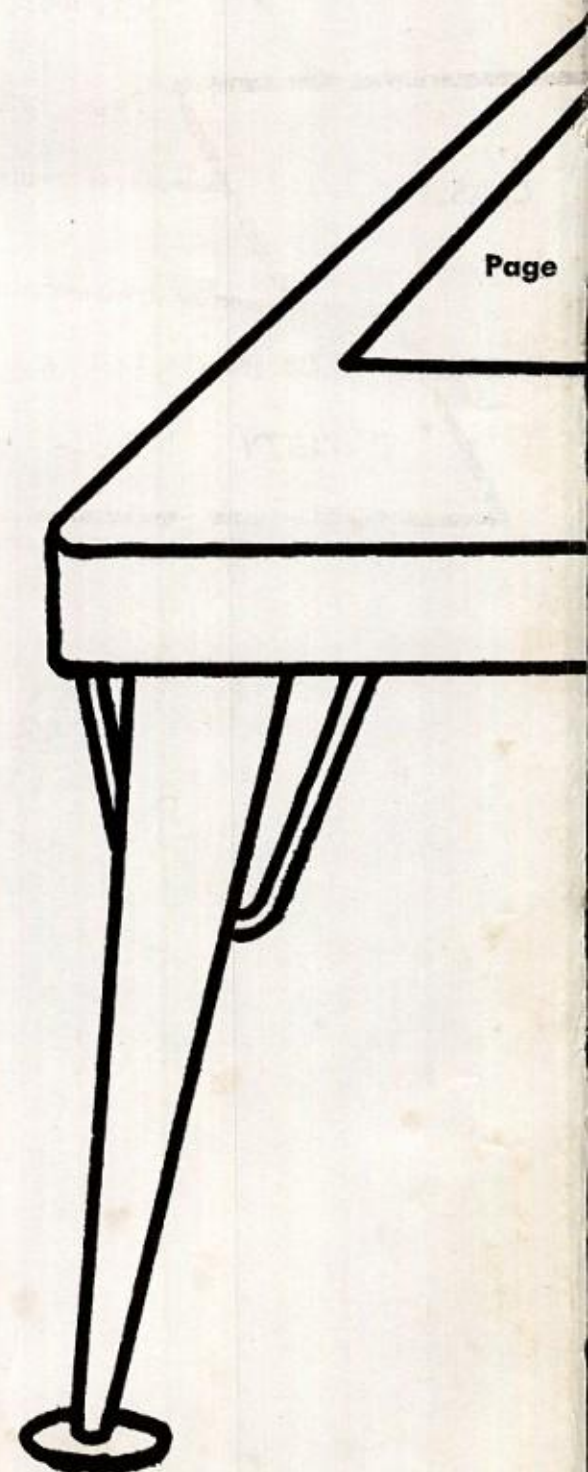

Life's worth is often judged by the pattern or design with which it identifies itself. These patterns are unique and very individual because each of us is unique and special.

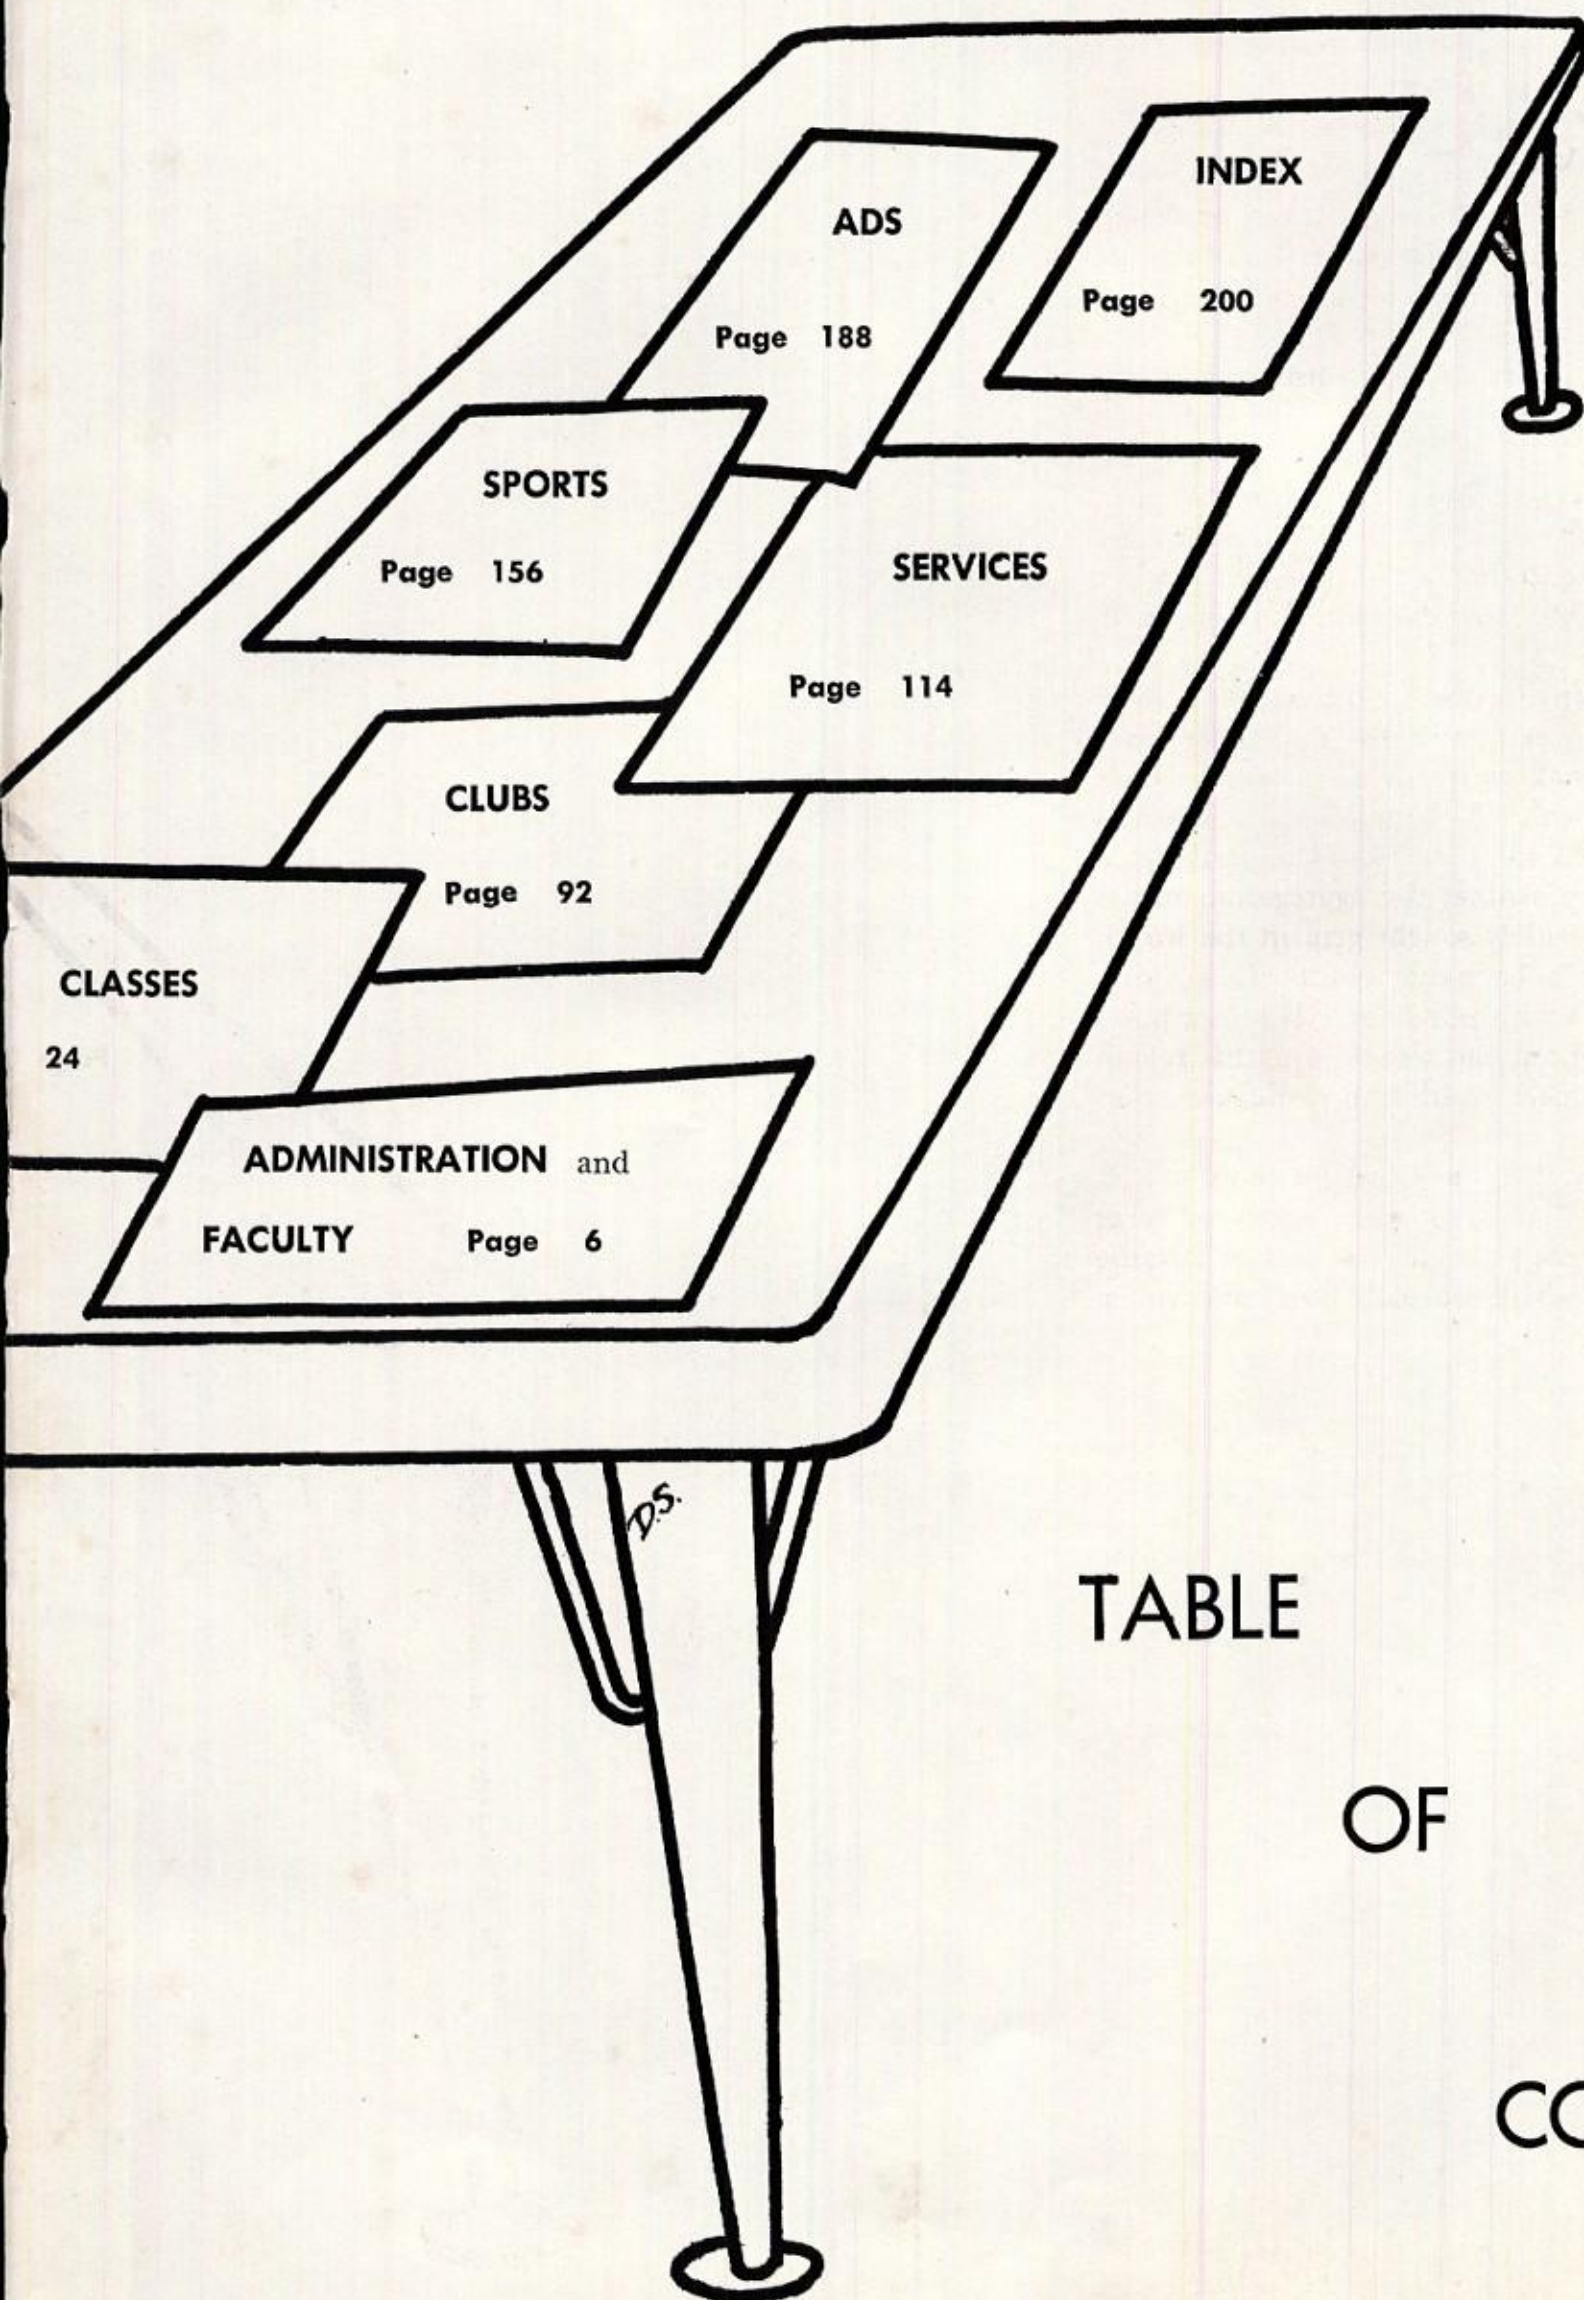

Young people often blindly attach themselves to a role which they cannot handle in fear of finding their true identity. Finding one's identity is possibly the hardest task which one can undertake, but it is certainly the most rewarding because only when we know ourselves well can we establish a pattern that will let us develop our talents to the fullest. Still, how does one know what to do with his life?

Nature possibly has the answer. Each rose and every dew drop has a purpose, no matter how outwardly frivolous it might seem. Look closely at a diamond. Each crystal reflects another which is the quality that makes a diamond so precious. Alone each would be nothing; a few would be mildly appealing; the aggregation makes the diamond the most widely sought gem in the world.

The youth of today are the many crystals of a growing democracy. What we do with our lives will reflect upon our society and throughout the world. For this reason we need a foundation made solid with dedication, purpose, and unity.

It is with these ideas that the Gavel presents to you the 1963 Gavel Annual. The artist who created the cover is Sue Krasno. The theme "design" was chosen because these are the years in which we must test ourselves to find the best-fitting design.

ADMINISTRATION and FACULTY

An administrator is acknowledged to be a human being (more or less), and yet he is frequently expected to be familiar with every problem of every person in his charge; to listen patiently to everyone's gripes, without griping; to accept other's mistakes without ever making them himself; to praise, without hoping to receive praise; to enforce rules and regulations for the good of the many individuals without dictating; and to be reasonable, understanding, fair, and even-tempered at all times without expecting others to conduct themselves in like manner. The task of an administrator is indeed a difficult one, but it is a noble responsibility.

A teacher is a human questionnaire:

"Why isn't your homework done?"

"What are you talking about?"

"Haven't you begun the next assignment yet?"

"Are you chewing gum?"

"Why were you absent yesterday?"

"When are you coming in to make up the test you missed?"

"Who erased the board?"

"Why didn't you come prepared for class?"

"What's your excuse this time?"

"Are you finally ready to settle down to work?"

"Why don't you ever comb your hair?"

"How do you expect to pass if you don't do the required work?"

"If you didn't understand the work, why didn't you ask for help?"

"Why didn't you study for the test?"

Though plaguing students with these queries throughout the day, teachers atone for their inquisitions by asking the one question that justifies all the others they ask:

"How may I help you?"

Art classes have performed many services for the school in providing posters, charts, and decorations for dances and stage productions. Next year, it is planned that they will construct a large wooden mosaic of typical school scenes. It will be hung on the wall near the stairway of door one.

Copper enameling tools, kilns, and a potter's wheel are a few of the special pieces of equipment the art department has at its disposal. If enrollment warrants next year there will be jewelry and ceramics classes besides the regular art classes.

Art pupils also worked on the sets for the school play and the Musico. They also contributed to the yearbook and made decorations for the school dance.

MR. OSTERNDORF, Sr. High Vice-Principal

Mr. Osterndorf makes plans with Ben Shubert about the Musico. Mr. Osterndorf took an active interest in this year's variety production.

MR. DIENER, Jr. High Vice-Principal

Mr. Diener explains the new I.B.M. system to a future assistant, Diane Minash. The I.B.M. is a new mechanism for recording and issuing student's grades.

Many students at Marshall have had the opportunity of working with Mr. Alan Osterndorf and Mr. Thomas Diener, vice-principals of the senior and junior high, respectively.

Daily they come into contact with student leaders from many school organizations and give their help and opinions whenever needed or requested.

The tasks of these two versatile men also include those of a more unpleasant nature. They are the wielders of the hand of the law which on occasion reaches out to wrongdoers to direct them toward worthwhile goals.

Mr. Diener and Mr. Osterndorf are efficient, competent administrators and an asset to our school, faculty, and student body.

MR. WERGIN, Principal

Popularity is not a necessary requirement of a school principal; however, it is one of the attributes of our principal. From the moment of his first address to the student body two years ago, Mr. Oliver Wergin has sought one general goal—that of promotion of the interests of John Marshall in the community, and of turning out students of the highest quality.

Mr. Wergin is a very genial man, not lacking in fondness for the entire student body. He demonstrates leadership and offers a helping hand to each student.

We at Marshall feel privileged to have such a fine leader working for our school, and most important, working for the betterment of the student body.

The Chief hails his tribe; the tribe hails its Chief at a pep rally when Mr. Wergin addressed the cheering crowd.

Each morning Mr. Wergin finds himself surrounded by students who make announcements to the student body.

DIVISIONS OF LEARNING

Guidance

It is the task of the Guidance department to spot any difficulties in the social growth of students, to administer standardized tests and to program students. The advent of the I.B.M. machines has greatly aided them in the job of programming students.

At Marshall there are seven counselors. The system runs through channels, controlled by the guidance supervisor, Mr. Eugene Culver. Mr. Arthur Kazmierczak advises the 7A and 8B; Mrs. Betty Steinke, the 7B and 8A; Mr. William Tracy, 9B; Miss Edna Gregg, 9A and 10B; Mr. Jerome Brandl, 10A and 11B; Mr. Richard Poulson, 11A and 12B.

Curriculum Coordinator

The Curriculum Coordinator performs a number of duties dealing with professional and educational matters. He renders services in inter-school plannings and functions. He plans for substitutes, coordinates the programs of visiting and student practice teachers and assists in the orientation of new teachers.

Special Education

Specialists in teaching reading, in instructing students with audio handicaps, and in educating youngsters who are mentally retarded or who have learning difficulties comprise the department of special education. The work of these teachers is truly one of unique dedication and of exceptional merit.

Music

Consisting of the band, orchestra, choir and general music classes, John Marshall's Music department is headed by Mr. Robert Beduhn. Music training begins in seventh grade and continues through grades 8-12. Lessons on the drum, string bass, viola, cello, violin, and piano are given weekly.

English

The most radical change in the English department for 1963 was the Team Teaching program, modeled after similar successful experiments at other schools. Students in this group were divided into three classes, meeting with three different teachers throughout the semester. Each teacher instructed them in grammar, then went on with specialized instruction.

Mr. James Jafferis taught non-fiction, Miss Ruth Mahre, poetry and drama, and Mr. Don Huth, short stories; thus students were exposed to different teaching methods.

Foreign Language

Headed by Mr. William Tracy, Marshall's Foreign Language department has the largest enrollment in the city. Seventeen per cent of the students take either Latin, German, French or Spanish.

Modern languages, taught by the audio-lingual method, stress a conversational approach to the language. Aids in this have been the language laboratory, records and films.

A student can take a language on alternate days in seventh and eighth grade, which enables him to take five years of a language.

Mathematics

The Mathematics department, consisting of seventeen teachers, is entering a readjustment period. The effects can be seen primarily in the seventh grade where some of the fundamentals of algebra are being introduced. Eventually, the whole school will be involved in the modern method of teaching mathematics as set forth by the School Mathematics Study Group.

The Mathematics department is currently conducting advanced classes in all grades, ranging from algebra in eighth grade to solid geometry in eleventh grade.

Social Science

Citizenship, world history, world geography, United States history, sociology and economics are taught in the Social Science department. Miss Ann Blix heads the senior division and the junior division is directed by Mr. John McGhee.

Of the three hundred-ninety students taking social science courses besides U. S. history, which is required for one year, many are active in the United Nations contests.

Business Education

Students entering business after leaving high school are well prepared by the Business Education department.

There are two courses offered in the Business Education department—the stenographic and non-stenographic course. After taking the stenographic course consisting of shorthand and stenography, students may be employed as secretaries or stenographers. The non-stenographic course includes clerical practice, bookkeeping, typing, and office practice and leads to a variety of jobs.

Science

General science, biology, chemistry, and physics are offered by the Science department. The Physical Science Study Committee course in physics was taught to the superior ability class this year and will be given to others next year.

Students have the opportunity to start science in their eighth grade and continue on through twelfth grade. The science subjects taught are either in the television category or in the regular category.

Industrial Arts

Industrial arts provides an opportunity to work with tools and machines to gain an understanding of industrial processes. The subjects taught in the seventh grade are woodshop and metal shop. In eighth grade, electricity, patternmaking, molding and cement work are taught, along with woodwork and metal work.

Senior high industrial arts is an elective and more specialized. The following subjects are taught: mechanical drawing, architectural drawing, machine drawing, woodwork, and metal work.

Home Economics

The John Marshall Home Economics department offers curriculum designed to furnish homemakers with the essentials of running an efficient and happy home, as well as provide for those planning a career in home economics.

Clothing and textiles, consumer buying and budgeting, meal planning, food preparation and service, family living, and home furnishing and management are a few of the subjects covered in various courses.

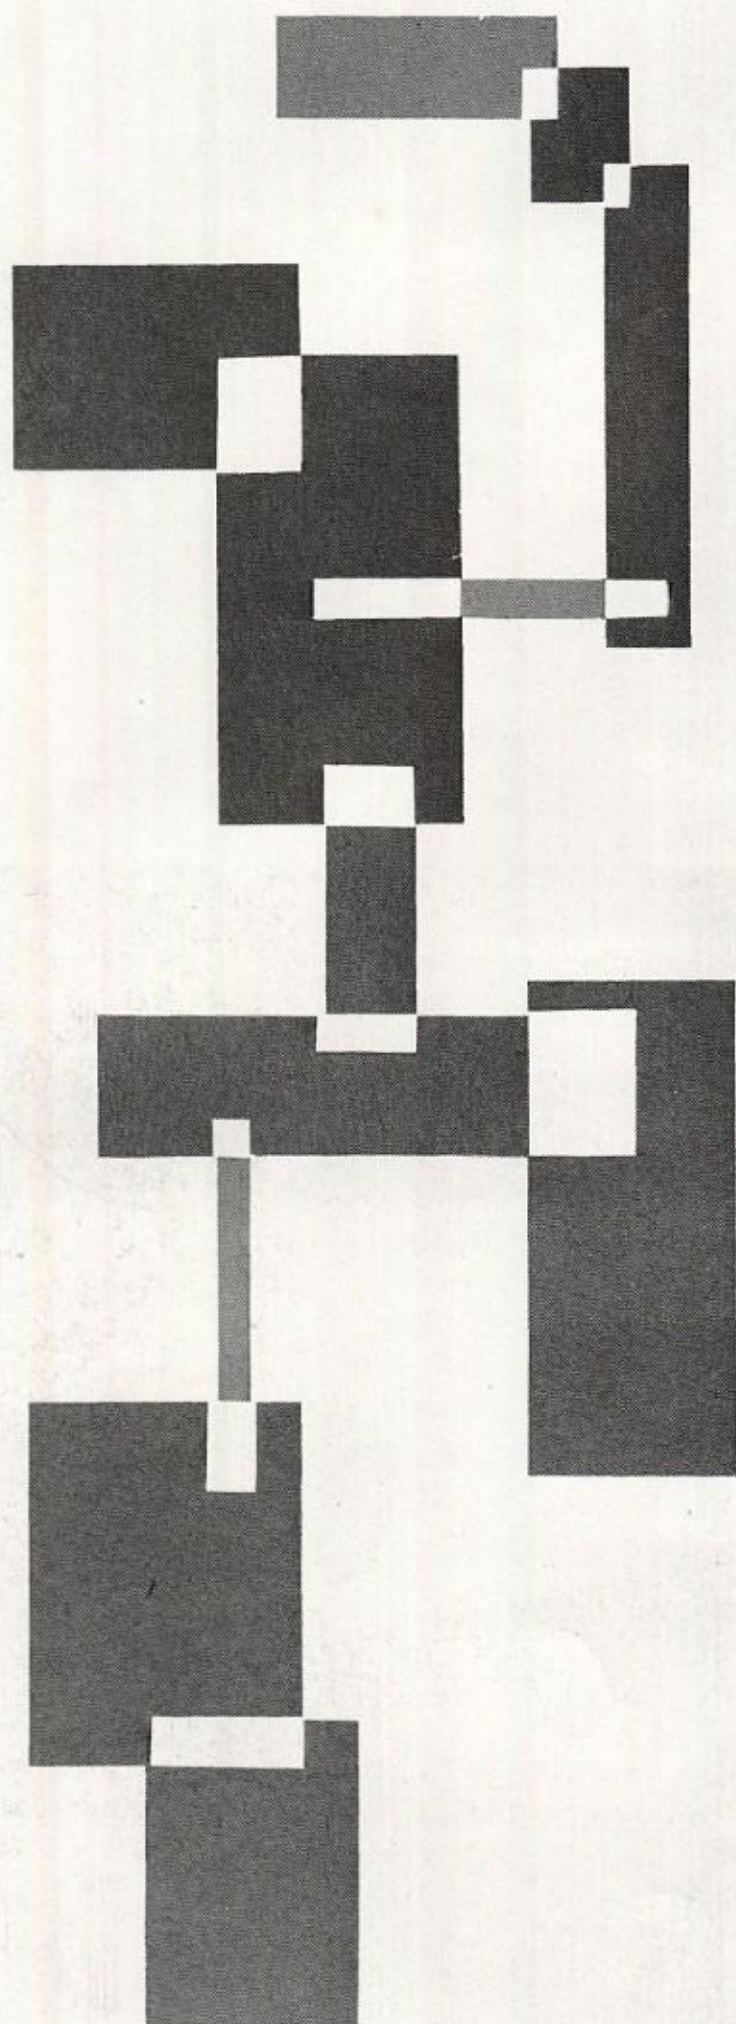

Physical Education

John Marshall's Physical Education department offers one of the best programs in the city. The department aims to get students physically fit, teach skills and team work.

Gym is required for all grades except 7B and 8A. The 7B's and 8A's are required to take swimming. Driver education and health are elective courses.

There are eight gym teachers, two health and one driver education teacher who are headed by Mr. Darwin Stover.

JUNIOR HIGH

A student is the pride of his school. But parents, students, and teachers surely differ on their ideas of what a true student is.

Parents believe their son or daughter is the perfect image of a student. Their child is the best behaved, hardest worker, and the smartest of them all.

As for the student himself, he believes his main job is to try to work up to this sometimes false impression his parents have set. He works on this task at home. At school, he agrees with his friends that a student is someone who goes to school.

Teachers have yet another idea of a student. To them he is someone who is conscientious about his homework and class work and is working up to his abilities and plans for the future.

In the student body, at Marshall, we have a large number of students; and some bodies that we are attempting to mold into students. Most of them will make the grade . . . with a little bit of luck and a lot of work.

SPECIAL EDUCATION

In the special education division students are taught useful skills. Here Mr. Haywood instructs a pupil in the use of a telephone.

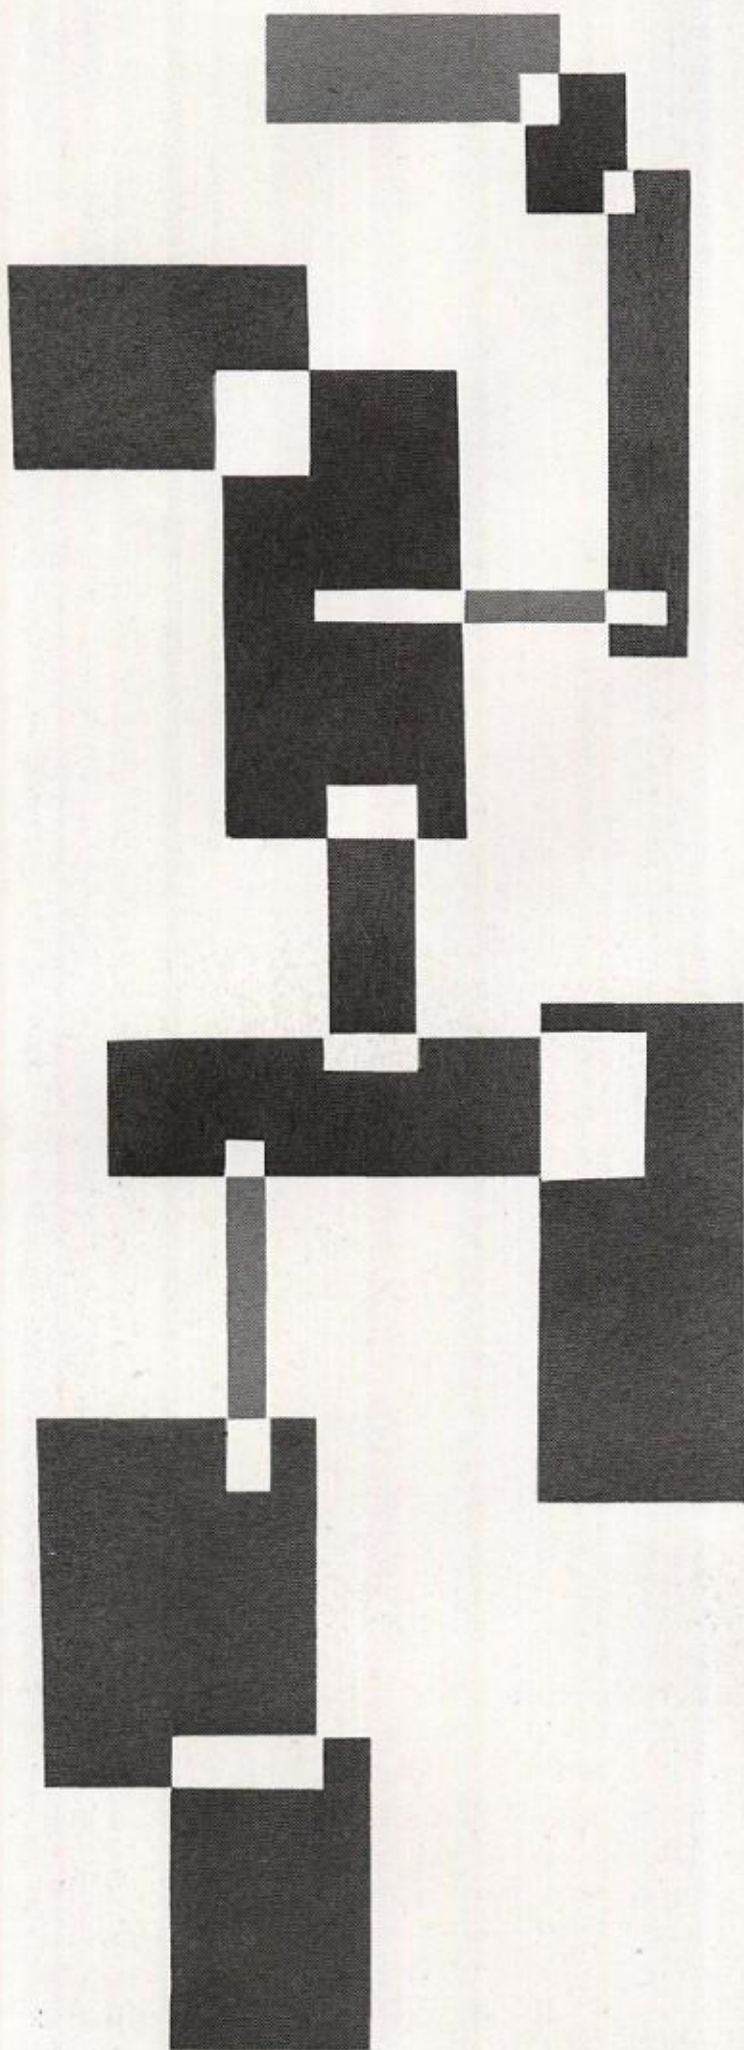

The school experiences for students in the special education classes are made as enjoyable as possible. Mr. Haywood and Mrs. Buchholtz are shown here twisting with their students.

Each year, about one hundred and twenty thousand American couples become the parents of children whose intellectual development is limited due to brain injury during birth or early years, a chemical disorder, a hereditary imperfection, or one of many other reasons yet unknown. Whatever the cause, the learning ability of these children is impaired and most of them never go beyond the level of normal seven-to-twelve year olds. No other handicap claims so many victims.

Until recently, the parents of these children could find nowhere to go for constructive advice, help or information. Today, a more enlightened society deals with the problem of mental retardation.

John Marshall is the only public high school in the state of Wisconsin, and one of the few in the country that has facilities for teaching trainable children. The two people who conduct these classes are Mrs. Kay Buchholtz and Mr. Earl Haywood.

Fifty-four students participate in this program. They attend school for two and one half hours daily, due to a limited attention span and the great number of pupils to be accommodated. All learning is accomplished through concrete experiences in class. The students are eager to come to school, for this is where they have their social contacts as well as their varied educational activities.

PAUL BINNER SCHOOL

The Paul Binner division of Marshall is a special school for the deaf and hard of hearing. Approximately one hundred seventy-five thousand totally deaf children are born every year in the United States. This number is usually doubled by non-inherited hearing losses.

At one time, the word "deaf" struck terror, a fear based on that which is unknown. Today, the deaf child is afforded many more opportunities than he was in previous, unenlightened years.

John Marshall has one of the most extensive guidance courses for the deaf in the city. The department, which offers classes from seventh through twelfth grade, is headed by Miss Chrysoula Mathas. Other teachers are Miss Rebecca Becker, Mrs. Marjorie Murphy, and Miss Kay Olsen; about forty students are accommodated in these classes.

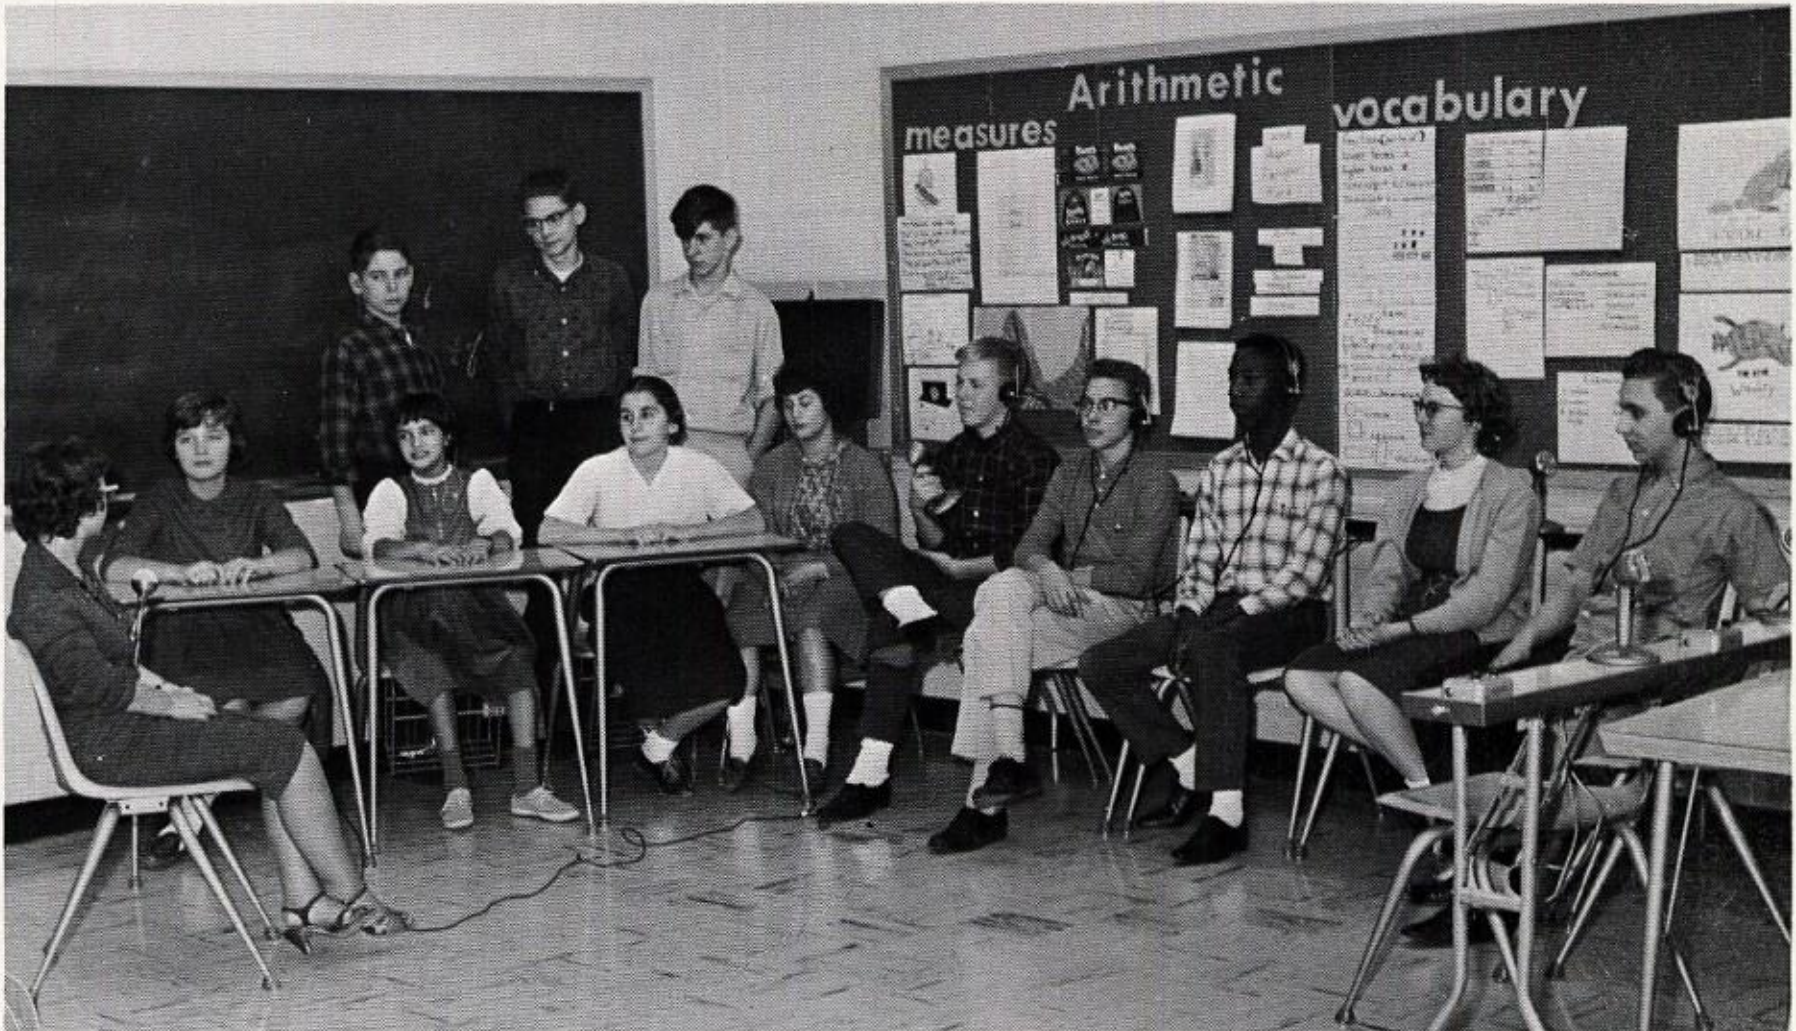

The youngster with hearing difficulties is exposed to the world of sound at the age of three. At that time, he is enrolled in the Neeskara-Binner department day school. There he undergoes strenuous curriculum, familiarizing himself with the fundamentals of speech. He also learns lip reading.

A device used in helping teachers instruct children to speak is the group hearing aid. By sending powerful vibrations through the ear bones, this aid enables the users to identify certain sounds. Along with rhythm training, this is a very important part of the Paul Binner department. In the public schools, no communication by sign language is taught or permitted.

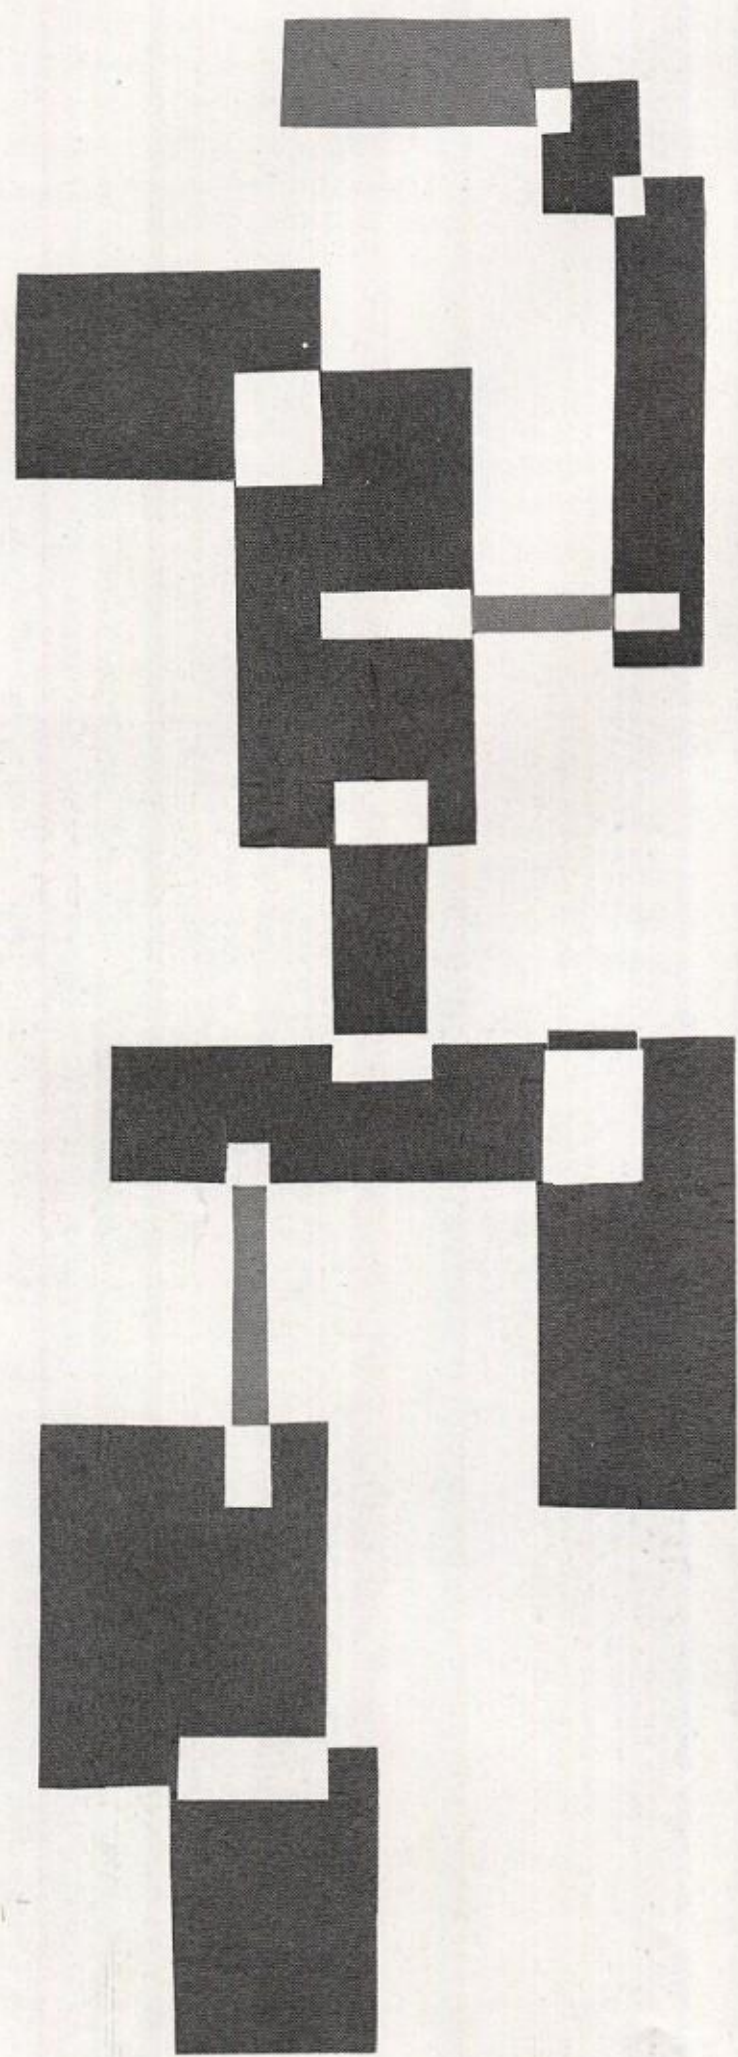

Excluding a hearing impairment, the deaf are in no way different from other people. They experience the same physical, psychological, and social changes that others do.

John Marshall is an expansion of the course which the student begins at Neeskara. After six grades of basic education, the student graduates to high school. Here he is provided with the opportunity of a higher education. With specially trained teachers, he takes the regular academic courses that are available to all students who attend high school.

GRADUATES

Bob Aronin is pleased about the prospect of finishing his high school career in June of 1963. He plans to enroll at the University of Wisconsin in Madison, although he is not sure of his course of study. Bob has been active on the Gavel newspaper, F.T.A., Student Council, boys intramurals, and is president of the Forensic Society. Outside of school he is interested in the Young Democrats organization.

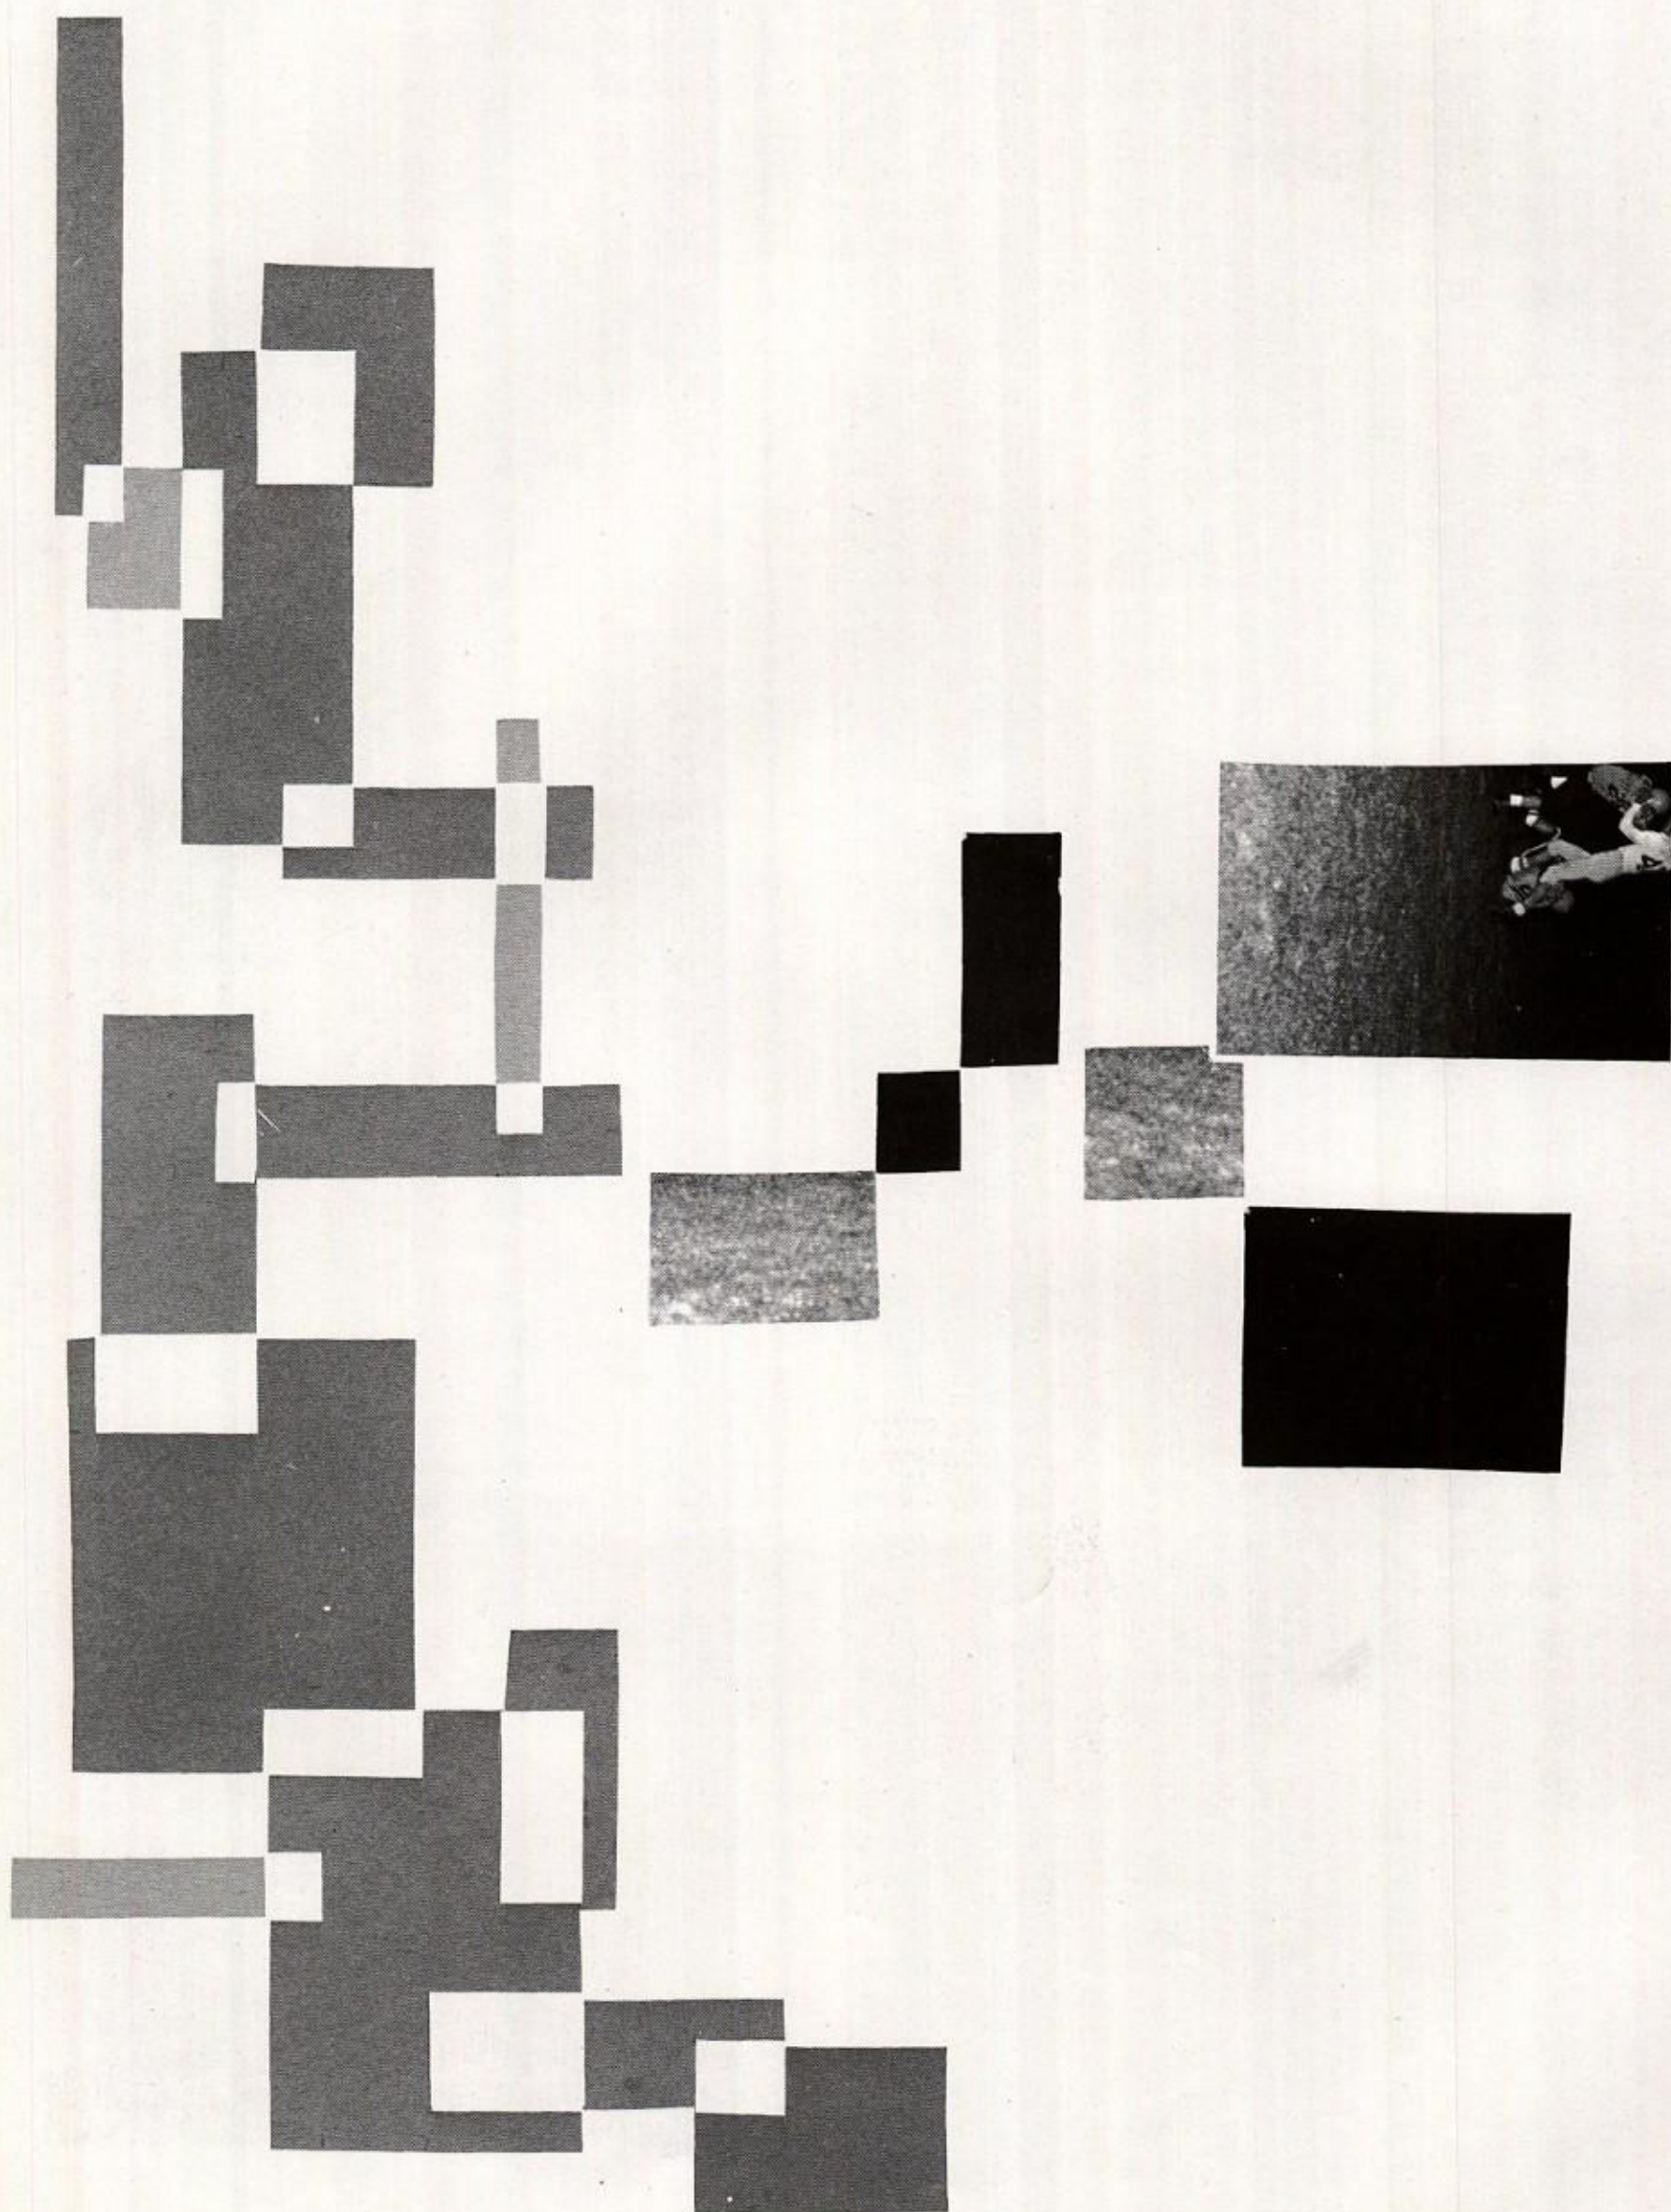

Loren Lanier, anticipating June graduation, said he was looking forward to the big day. For high school graduation brings him closer to the realization of his advanced education. Loren will attend a Milwaukee college at which he will pursue studies in civil engineering which he hopes to make his career. While at Marshall, Loren participated in the intramural activities.

A student of the Paul Binner division, June McPherson will also graduate in June of 1963. Eager about being one of the early graduates, she, along with the three other students pictured here, will be the first to receive a diploma from Marshall High. Having no plans for college, June would like to find a job after graduation and start out on a business career.

Mary Skibbie, a Paul Binner student and the fourth graduate this June, feels that as such she is somewhat of a pioneer and thus contributes to the history of Marshall. Her plans are to get a job. While here, Mary was the typist for the Gavel newspaper and did a fine job in this capacity.—Good luck, graduates.

The Rent-a-Plebe Service was the big event of the newly organized Latin Club. The faculty advisors are Mr. Thomas Marx and Miss Elaine Steiger. There are seventy-five members in the group. The services of a number of plebes were auctioned off to the patricians at various sum of money for a period of two weeks. The minimum purchase price was fifteen cents; the maximum went as high as $2.50. All proceeds went to the treasury which will use the money in the future for the yearly Latin banquet. The slaves were first-year Latin students. Many patricians, second and third-year students, ended up with three or four plebes to carry their books and lunches, greet them at their lockers, and help them with their coats, while the plebes uttered those humble words, "Sum plebs humilis," (I am a lowly plebe.).

In the future the club plans to have several skits in Latin at their meetings. Other events will include readings of Classical Latin literature, Roman Culture, and other related activities.

The German club, co-directed by Mrs. Gisela Bronner and Mr. John Szucs, planned several activities for this semester. At one meeting, students viewed slides of Germany. At another they studied German customs and contributions of famous Germans to the culture of the world. The club also attended the Folk Fair.

Sponsored by Mrs. Elfrieda Waltz, the French club meets on the third Tuesday of each month. Last semester they organized a bake sale to raise money. With this money they bought tickets to the Folk Fair, a yearly program of the customs, foods, music, and cultural backgrounds of nationality groups in Milwaukee.

DANCE CLUB

Bossa Nova, Mashed Potatoes, Limbo, Pony, and the Push 'n Kick are just a few of the dances that members of the Dance club learned this year. The club, which is basically a dance-loving social group, meets every Wednesday with their sponsor, Mrs. McGrath. The group was formed after several people realized the need for such a group at some of our dances.

Officers of the club for this year were: President, Tom Prino; Vice-president, James Slawny; Secretary, Sandy Weidoff; Treasurer, Jackie Zyszwieckez.

All varsity letter winners belong to the Lettermen's club. One of the projects they undertook this year was the supervision of orderly dismissal from basketball games. The club started this year with the first issuing of the varsity "M's" by the Athletic department.

Officers of the club for this year were: President, Dick Witte; Vice-President, Bob Berdan; Secretary, Steve Moldenhauer; Treasurer, Keith Shepard. The officers of this club are elected by popular vote and preside for the duration of one year.

MUSIC DEPARTMENT

All students are eligible to join the senior chorus which trains the students for a cappella choir. Members are selected for excellent singing voices, superior ability to read notes, and character above reproach.

Three bands, the junior band, intermediate band, and senior band are conducted by Mr. Michael Yindra. Mr. Yindra chooses the senior band members, composed of high school students, "after they reach a high standard of proficiency." The senior band will be Marshall's concert band and will also appear at parades and football games.

Approximately 95 students, under the direction of Mr. Frank Orlando are members of three orchestras; the junior orchestra, the intermediate orchestra and the senior orchestra. Next year the senior orchestra will play for graduation; it also plays in the spring concert, and the Musico. Some of the members from the intermediate and senior orchestras are members of the All-City Orchestra which consists of students from schools all over the city.

OFFICE STAFF

The competent secretaries shown in the act of being competent.

Miss Zanoni and Mr. Osterndorf deal with the daily multitude of students who come to the office with assorted questions and problems.

Every day Mrs. Rosemary Ward checks the I.B.M. attendance cards for 2,700 students.

The I.B.M. system means a vast change in office and teacher records. Its main advantages are in the amount of time and work it saves.

The complete I.B.M. unit consists of four separate machines. The first, a key punch, punches the characters in each student's program card. Next, the sorter sorts these. Then the 1401 computer records all given information on tapes and prepares it for the master unit, 7074, in Chicago. These tapes are then put into this machine. In twelve to fifteen minutes, this information has been gathered, and the student schedules are complete.

KITCHEN STAFF

Serving approximately two thousand students daily and sending food to six other elementary schools in the vicinity requires the combined efforts of fifteen women. Two stack ovens, one range, an eighty gallon steam kettle, and a sixty quart mixing machine are a part of the cafeteria equipment used daily.

All bread, rolls, cakes, and pies are baked in the school ovens. Nearly one thousand pounds of flour are used weekly. When hamburger, the favorite meal is served, about three hundred and fifty pounds of meat are used.

Miss Sophie Czubkowski, the cook manager, insures that the cafeteria is run efficiently.

Bottom Row: Olive Carey, Marie Janos, Grace Ivy, Rose Draeger, Betty Grassinger, Dawn Lukitsch, Marie Bublitz, Sophie Czubkowski

With king-sized kettles and king-sized ladles, Mrs. Elizabeth Kuzniewski prepares soup for the day.

Mrs. Charlotte Ahlest busies herself preparing the more than thousand rolls it takes to feed Marshallites.

KITCHEN HELPERS

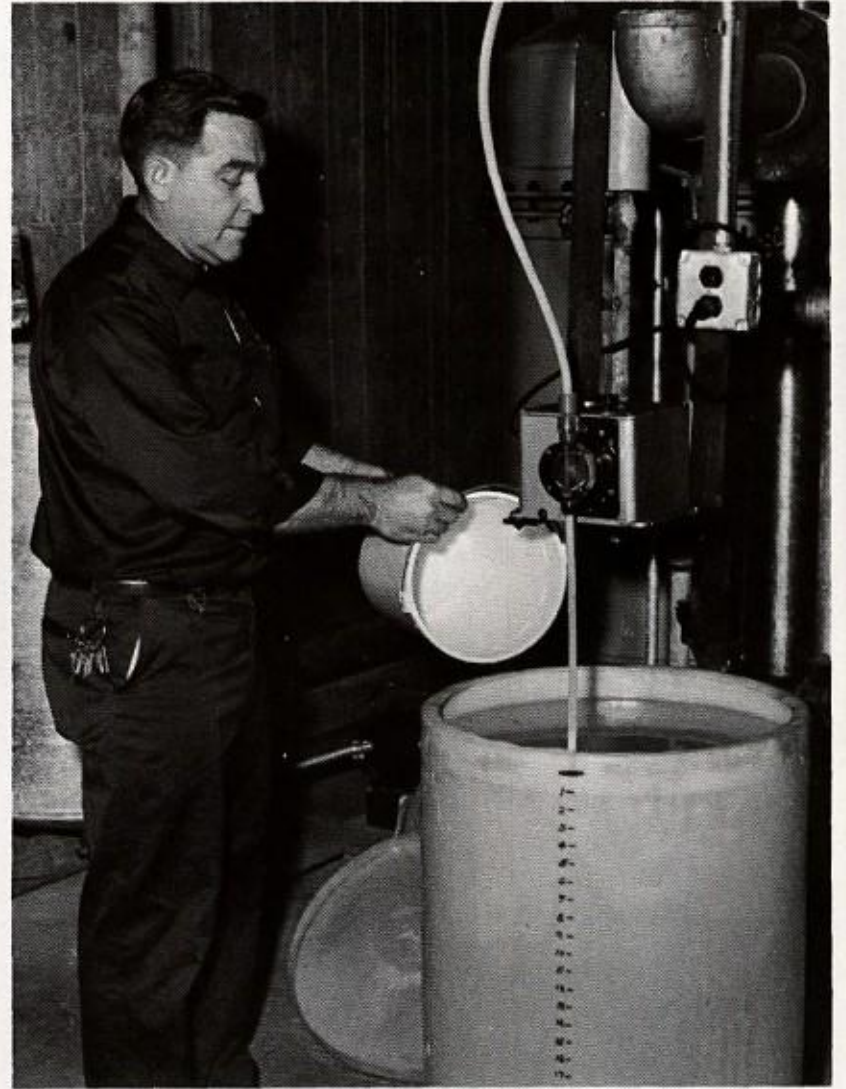

Behind the scenes in the cafeteria are nine boys who wash dishes and four girls who sell candy and ice cream. The girls are Pat Danielson, Barbara Nagy, Paulette Zirbes, and Linda Janos. Joel Eichenbaum, Bill Greenberger, Gus Kabitzke, Jay Kuritz, Ron Lawonn, Allan Prest, Gary Walters, Ron Worgull, and Mike Zandron wash dishes every day.

ENGINEERING STAFF

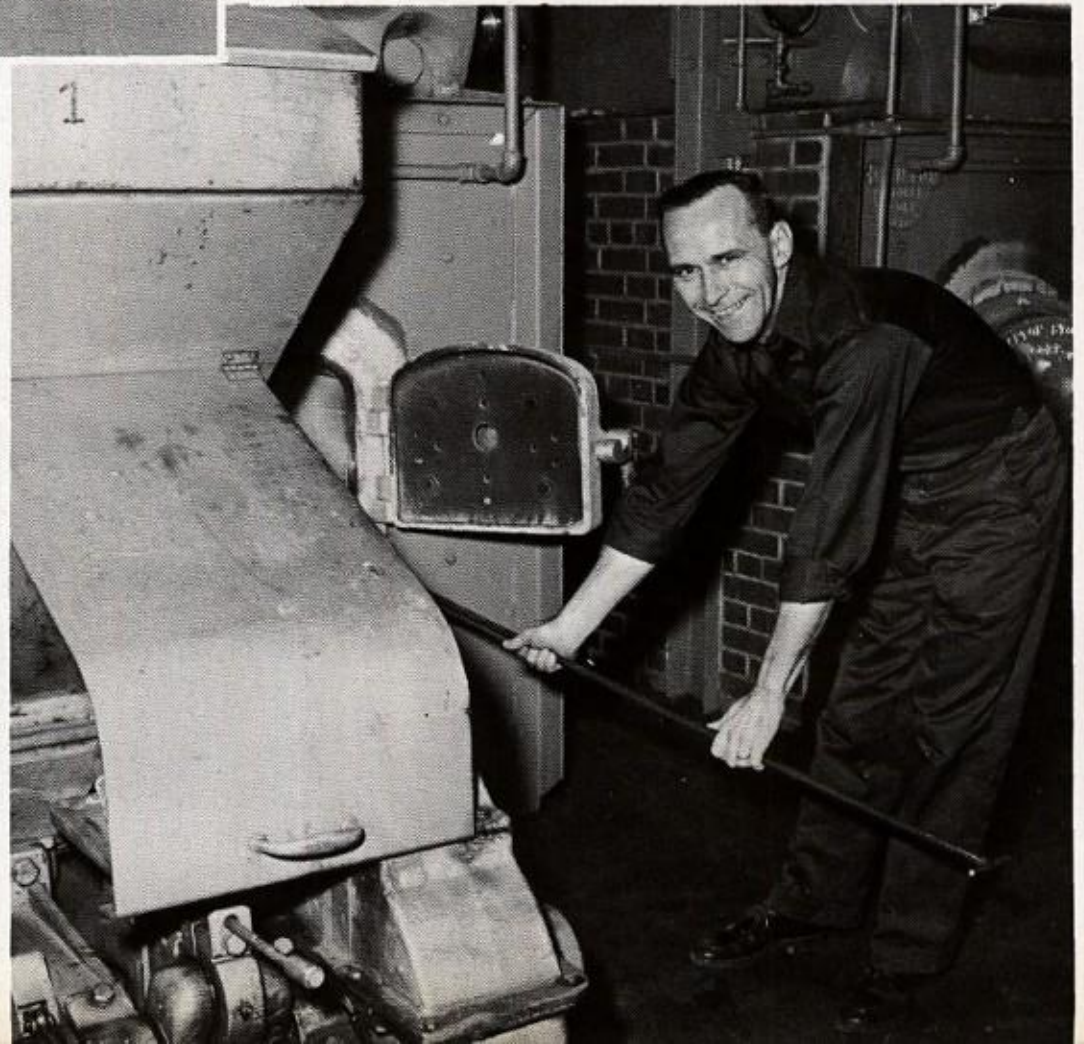

Maintaining a school the size of Marshall is a tremendous responsibility. Ten men and five women, under the supervision of the head engineer, Mr. Harold Wendorf, and second engineer, Mr. Robert Biemann, work three shifts, twenty-four hours daily. Their job is to maintain 271,423 square feet of floor space, which is about $4\frac{1}{2}$ to 5 acres. The women sweep, dust, and wash windows of all rooms and hallways. The ten men are in charge of regulating heat and ventilation, and keeping the school grounds in top condition. In addition, the men set up athletic equipment, and other necessary props and materials for dances.

Messrs. Bob Biemann, Ivan Heyborn, Glen Skendadore, Warren Gumz help keep a polish on our floors.

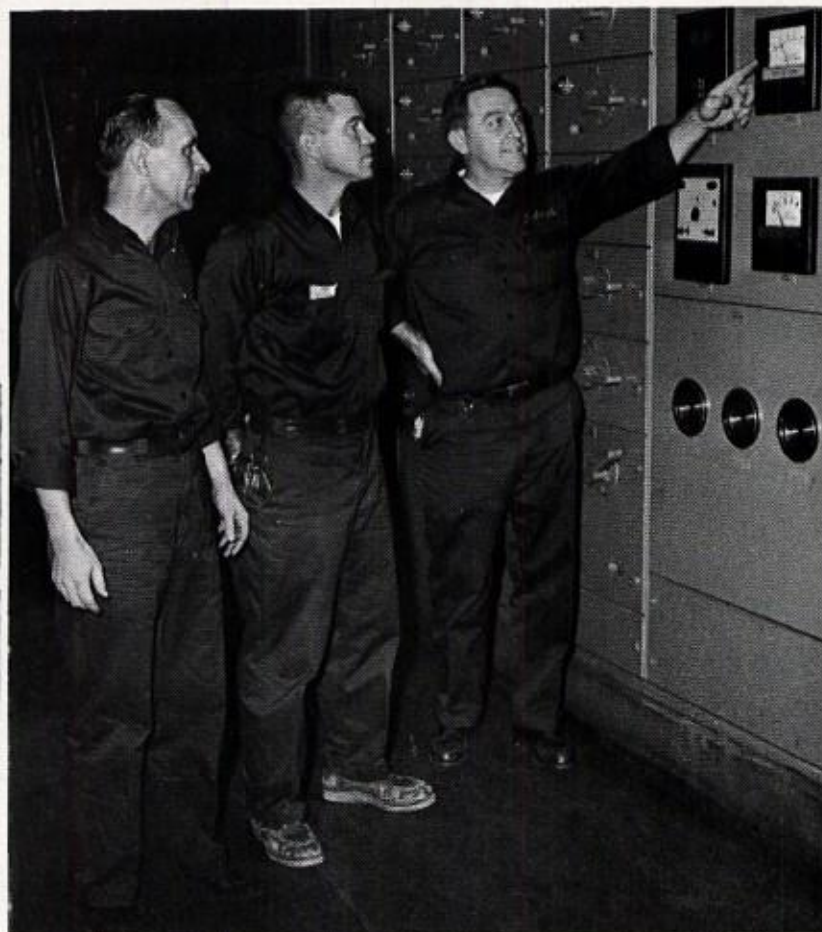

Mr. Harold Wendorf regulates the condition of the water by adding softeners.

Mr. Tom Adams keeps the school warm during the cold winter months.

Messrs. Paul Carr and Howard Schrutt work daily on keeping the swimming pool clean.

Messrs. Tom Adams, Dwayne Braaton, Herald Wendorf check the instruments which tell that all is well with the heating system.

Eleanor Gregorey, Angela Wolfgram, Kate Abraham, and Martha Fassel help keep our rooms and corridors clean.

In addition to their duties as housewives, Marshall's seven cleaning women spend from five to seven hours per night sweeping, dusting and cleaning the floors, desks, walls, and blackboards of our school.

Each of them cleans on the average of thirteen rooms a night, in addition to the cafeteria and auditorium.

Cleaning furniture, gym, team room and street lockers are jobs undertaken during the summer months.

One of the largest committees of the student council, the corridor committee, has over one hundred and sixty students working as hall monitors. Duties of the monitors are: checking hall passes, lockers, lavatories, picking up papers, giving directions to visitors, and maintaining order in the corridors. These cadets are chosen in the beginning of the semester by hourly captains; the monitors must have three teachers sign as references.

The hourly captains or supervisors are selected by the student council board. Special duties of the captains are: taking attendance, checking on the monitors, and taking care of any special problems which may arise. The captains meet every Thursday morning at 8:00 A.M. to discuss their duties and problems and methods of improving the hall patrol system. Jackie Pechacek is the general chairman of this group. Mr. Thomas Marx is the faculty advisor.

Checking books in and out, delivering library permits, filing, and keeping shelves in order are among the many duties of the library monitors. Each day, before, during, and after school, students can find these library assistants stationed ready to help. During the day, only senior high students may be library monitors; but before and after school, there is an opportunity for junior high students to serve Mrs. Kathryn Schafer, the librarian.

The library seats approximately one hundred and fifty people. When fully equipped, the library will hold ten books per student and will also have various references. The library now has four books per student and subscribes to one hundred magazines.

Library monitors spend much time and effort serving the student body.

During the past year Mrs. Margaret Koegel and members of the Junior Red Cross have performed many useful services.

At Christmas time they filled stockings with hard candy and cookies which were given to patients of the Milwaukee County Infirmary.

Miss Roberta Pippitt's sewing classes made thirty pairs of terrycloth slippers from materials which the Junior Red Cross purchased. Baby layettes were made by Miss Waltraut Schaarschmidt's students.

Club members gathered pictures for a scrapbook which was sent to a school in western Germany. This book attempted to show what high school life is like in America.

Seven members of Miss Pippitt's sewing class made terrycloth slippers for the Red Cross which went to the Milwaukee County Infirmary.

STAGE CREW

Bruce Harrmann, Alan Schumann, William MacPherson, Richard Gerbitz, Don Thomas, Dennis Behling, Gary Boldt, Michael Lerner

Without the vital aid of the stage crew and the stagecraft club, the auditorium programs would be virtually impossible.

Under the direction of Mr. Frank Orlando, nine boys carry out all the duties in connection with the auditorium programs. They see that all productions run smoothly. During an assembly, each boy is assigned to a particular duty, such as, arranging props, setting up scenery, creating special lighting effects, and pulling the curtain.

The stage craft club is in charge of making all scenery and props that will be needed for any production. After long hours of sketching, drawing, and painting, the club members under the direction of Mr. Robert Zacher completed the sets for Marshall's play The Man Who Came To Dinner and for the 1963 Musico, Showtime On Broadway. Students worked before and after school, using small models as guides to the finished products.

Stemming from the belief in representative government, the Student Council provides its members with an opportunity to develop leadership, acquire a knowledge of democratic procedures, and to serve the school in various capacities. In addition to being a representative body of student government (one representative from each homeroom), the Student Council directs various committees which include the Noon Hour committee, the Dance committee, the Sales committee, and the Hall Monitors committee. The purpose of the Noon Hour committee is to direct activities taking place during the lunch periods.

Directing visitors who come to our school and serving as ushers during various programs are the duties of the Marshallettes. The dance committee plans our various dances. The familiar sight of candy sales is the responsibility of the Sales committee, and the hall monitors are also a charge of the council.

Meetings are bi-monthly. The presiding officers are Cathy Prochep, President; Cindy Schneiderman, vice-president; Sandy Weidoff, recording secretary; Judie Miller, corresponding secretary; Phyllis Casalena, treasurer; Ken Hatch, sergeant-at-arms; and Rod Sciborski, member-at-large. Mr. William Tracy is the chief adviser.

NEWSPAPER STAFF

The Gavel Newspaper is a monthly publication put out by an ambitious core of more than fifty students. Each time the paper goes to press between 10,000 to 15,000 well chosen words have been used to print informative, interesting and entertaining articles of wide appeal to the student. The faculty editorial adviser is Mrs. Alyce Parsons; the business manager is Mr. Fred Winter; and the adviser in charge of photography is Mr. Allan Hida.

Editors-In-Chief

Fifty-eight staff members and editors began to plan the '63 Gavel early in September. A kickoff program in the auditorium to promote the sale of yearbooks resulted in more than three fourths of the student body subscribing.

The editors and staff meet daily seventh hour with their faculty advisor, Miss Elaine Steiger. They also put in many hours before and after school, and during their lunch and study hours. Co-editors in Chief Diane Almond and Kathy Koch used both their charm and their ability to get the work done.

"We had cooperation from everyone," the girls said, "but we're especially grateful to Mr. Sprangers, our school photographer; to Mr. Robert Zacher, our art advisor; and to Mrs. Reva Engelke and her typing and shorthand students who really did a terrific job of typing copy.

"We know members of our staff will agree when we say that Leon Luck made the most outstanding contribution to the book with his artistic layouts and his type suggestions."

Joe Policki performs "Shoeless Joe" from "Damn Yankees"

Joe Policki, Pete Karegeannes, Rod Sciborski, and Ben Schubert sing "Take Her Out of Pity."

The Musico's entire cast sings the opening number, "Showtime on Broadway."

Showtime on Broadway, the yearly musical, played to a capacity house on March 15 and 16. A group of one hundred and twenty-four students, including the stage band and dancers, presented a polished performance of music, songs and dances from the Broadway musicals, The King and I, Guys and Dolls, Pajama Game, Music Man, Damn Yankees, Kismet, and West Side Story. Mr. Robert Beduhn, chairman of the Music department, and Mr. Michael Yindra, band director, coordinated and directed the entire production. Mary Beth Chudnow was the student accompanist. Miss Esther Heiden of the physical education department supervised the precision choreography.

Chris Schmitt sings the introduction to "Hello Young Lovers."

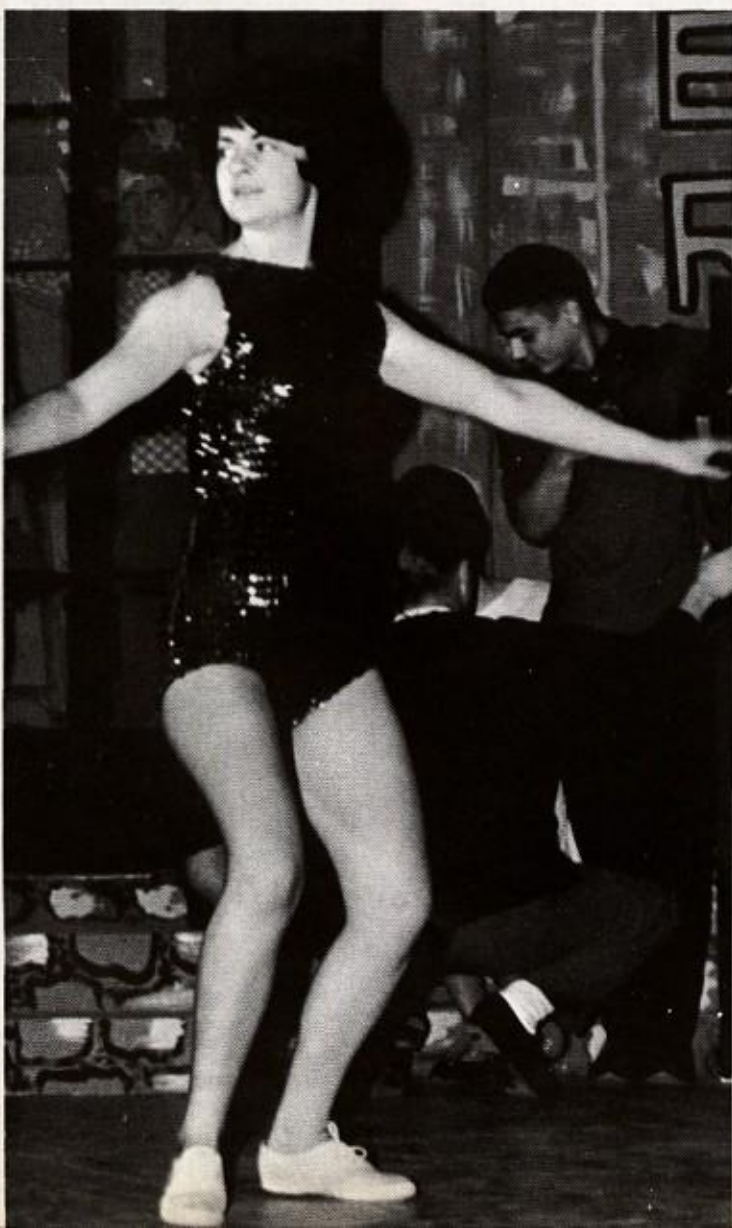

The four student directors, Ben Schubert, Charlene Farrington, Janice Pergoli, and Linda Wesling, discuss plans for the Musico.

Ben Schubert and Mary Schoenecker sang selections from Guys and Dolls. These included "There's a Hole in the Bucket" and "Bushel and a Peck."

John Schmidt, Bev Young, Dennis Rumocki, and Ruta Kupsis danced to the music of West Side Story.

Nancy Jarvis performed a solo routine from the play The King and I.

"76 Trombones" was the theme for another of the numerous dance routines.

Tom Rank plays "Cherry Pink and Apple Blossom White" from Music Man.

PEP RALLIES

Three times this year Marshall students laughed and cheered with all their might during school hours. The faculty either looked on approvingly or joined in the fun as the rafters and floor boards shook from the effects of Marshall's three pep rallies.

The entire student body crowded into the senior high gyms for the first pep rally last fall. After the enthusiastic singing of the school song, the cheerleaders led the group in cheers praising the alma mater. The drill-team then performed for the first time before the school and was greeted with hearty applause.

Despite a losing season, large and enthusiastic crowds supported the basketball team.

AUDITORIUM PROGRAMS

Harry John Brown conducted the Milwaukee Symphony Orchestra at a morning assembly.

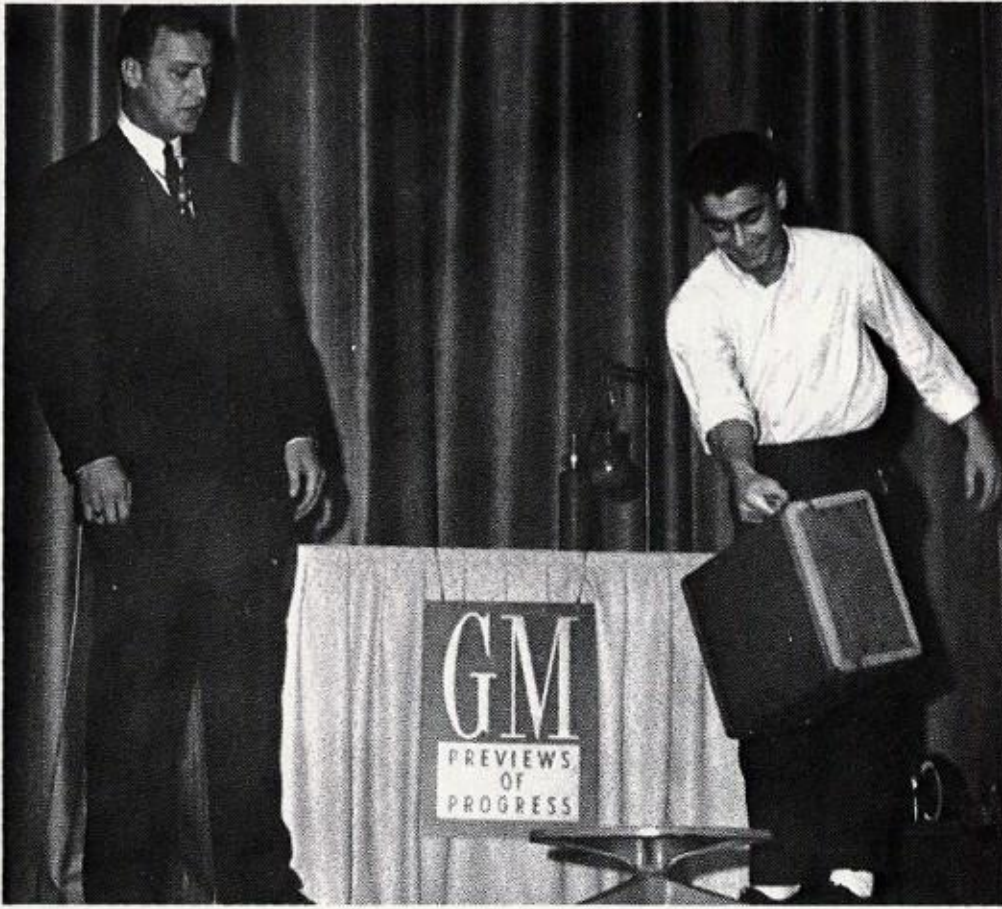

Among the many varied auditorium programs offered to the student body this year was the performance of the Milwaukee Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Harry John Brown, and the Christmas program with its living Christmas tree of dance class members, were designed with the lovers of fine arts in mind.

A program directed toward the boys was the presentation of a trophy from the Fisher Auto Body Company to Bill Bruder. A program for girls was the visit of Miss Wisconsin, Miss Joan Mary Engh, who was runner-up to Miss America.

The Christmas program was put on by the a cappella choir and the seventh and eighth grade chorus led by Mr. Robert Beduhn. Miss Dorothy Smith conducted a pictorial presentation of great art works to the group.

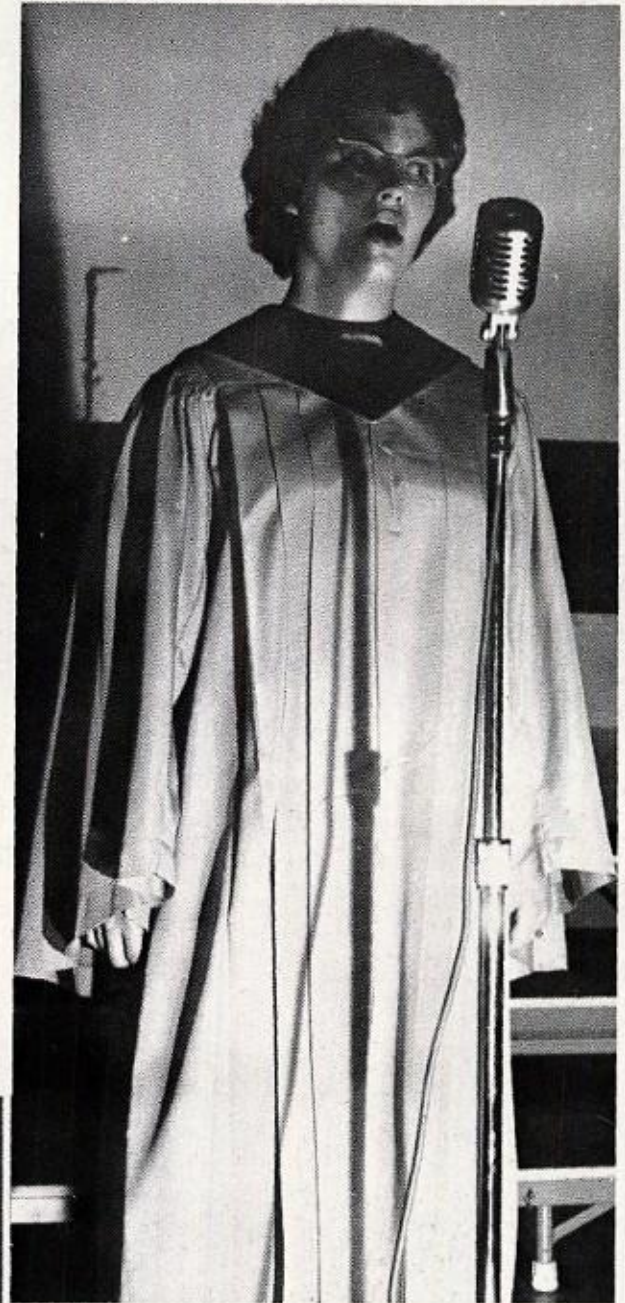

The dance ensemble gracefully performs during the Christmas program.

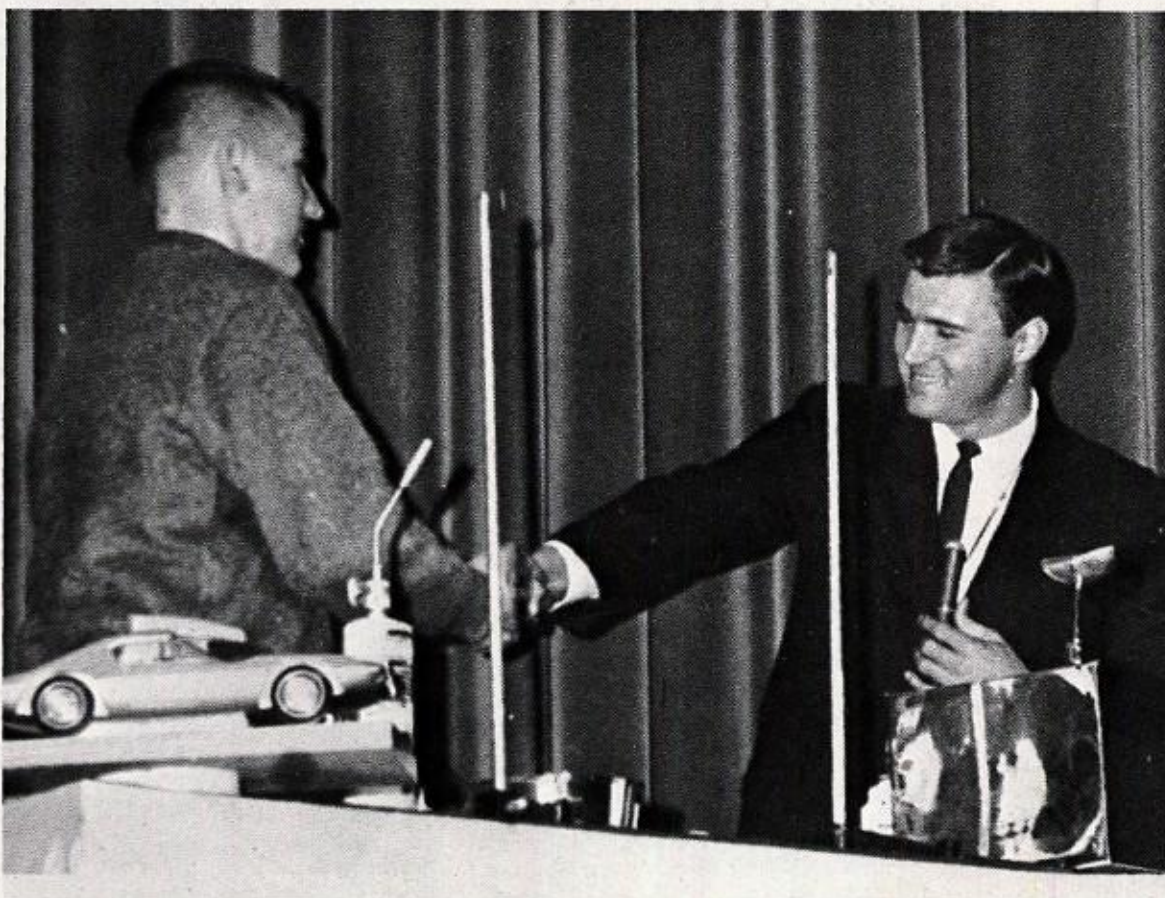

Attempting the impossible, Pete Karageannes is pulled around stage by a gyroscope concealed in the suitcase.

Claudia Harris sings a solo in the Christmas program.

Bill Bruder receives well deserved plaudits for winning a Fisher Auto Body Company design contest.

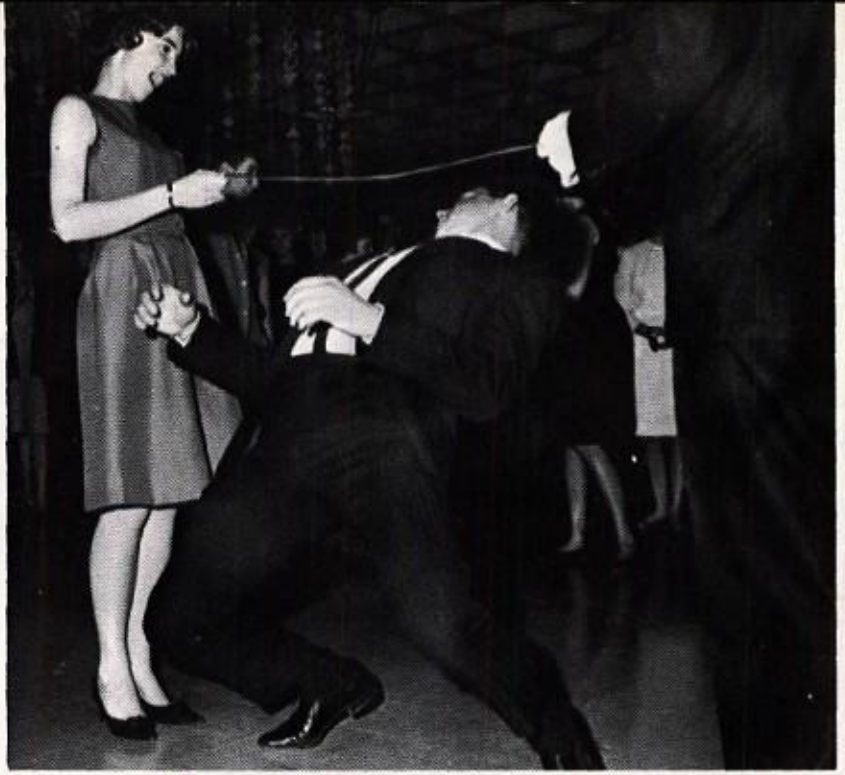

DANCES

Sandie Wiedoff and Bill Bruder help decorate the cafeteria for a dance.

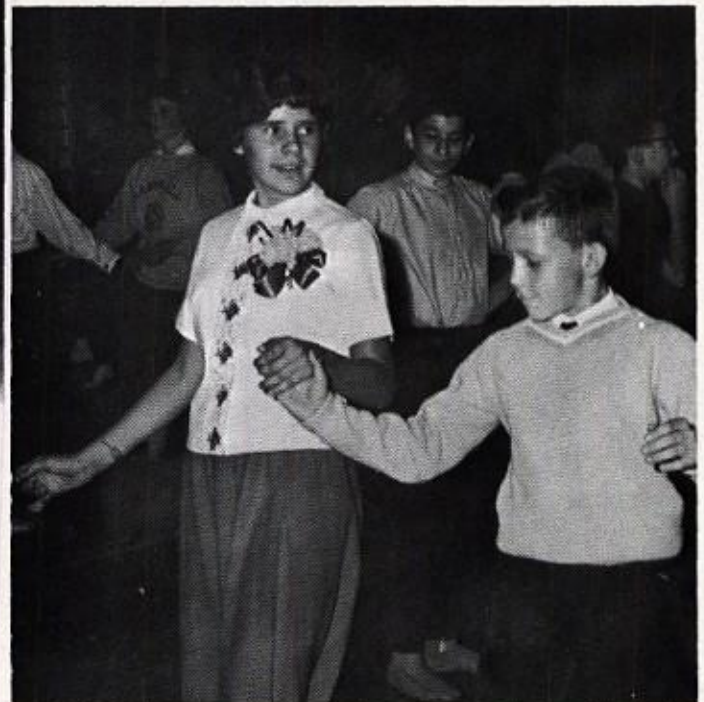

Now that we've learned to walk, let's dance!

"How low can you go?"

Many couples danced to good music during Marshall's first dance of the year, "Winter Wonderland".

The junior high also has dances.

THE MAN WHO CAME TO DINNER

Martin Becker, as the lead in The Man Who Came To Dinner was a very remarkable Sheridan Whiteside. Martin, as a sudden replacement in the title role, learned his part well in two weeks. As a biting British author, he whipped out his lines with convincing maturity and delightful wit.

Mr. Whiteside, a dinner guest who breaks his hip and extends his dinner engagement to a three-week stay at the Stanley home, wears well on his host's nerves but delights the Stanley son and daughter, Richard and June, and the audience with sophisticated comedy.

The entire cast did an able job of presenting the first three-acter. Among roles long to be remembered are those of Terry Jones as Banjo, a Hollywood actor; Cindy Charusch as choir director; Maggie Cutler as Mr. Whiteside's secretary; Jeanie Swanson as Harriet Stanley, the eccentric sister of the host; and Miss Preen, Mr. Whiteside's tongue-lashed nurse.

Mr. Ralph Bielenberg directed the play; Marsha Schwam was the student director.

Commotion in the Stanley household was commonplace, especially during the radio broadcast given by Mr. Whiteside.

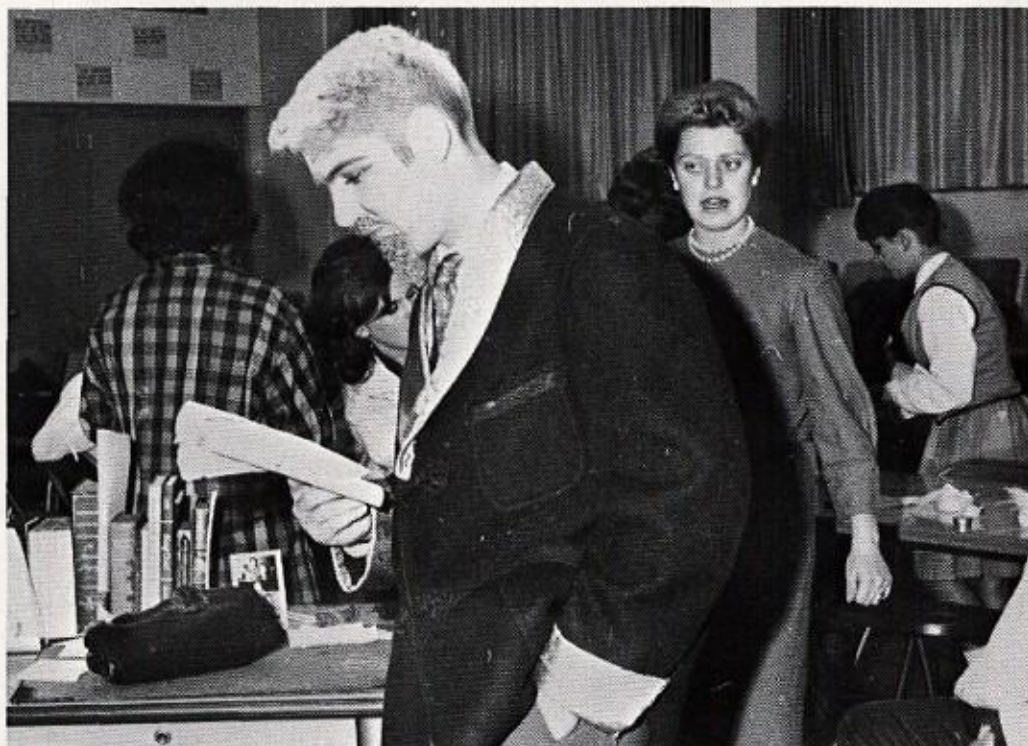

Mr. Bielenberg gives directions at one of the long rehearsals for A Man Who Came To Dinner.

Noreen Richlin feels cool, calm and collected as make-up is applied to her before the curtain rises.

Martin Becker, who had the lead in the school play, prepares for opening night.

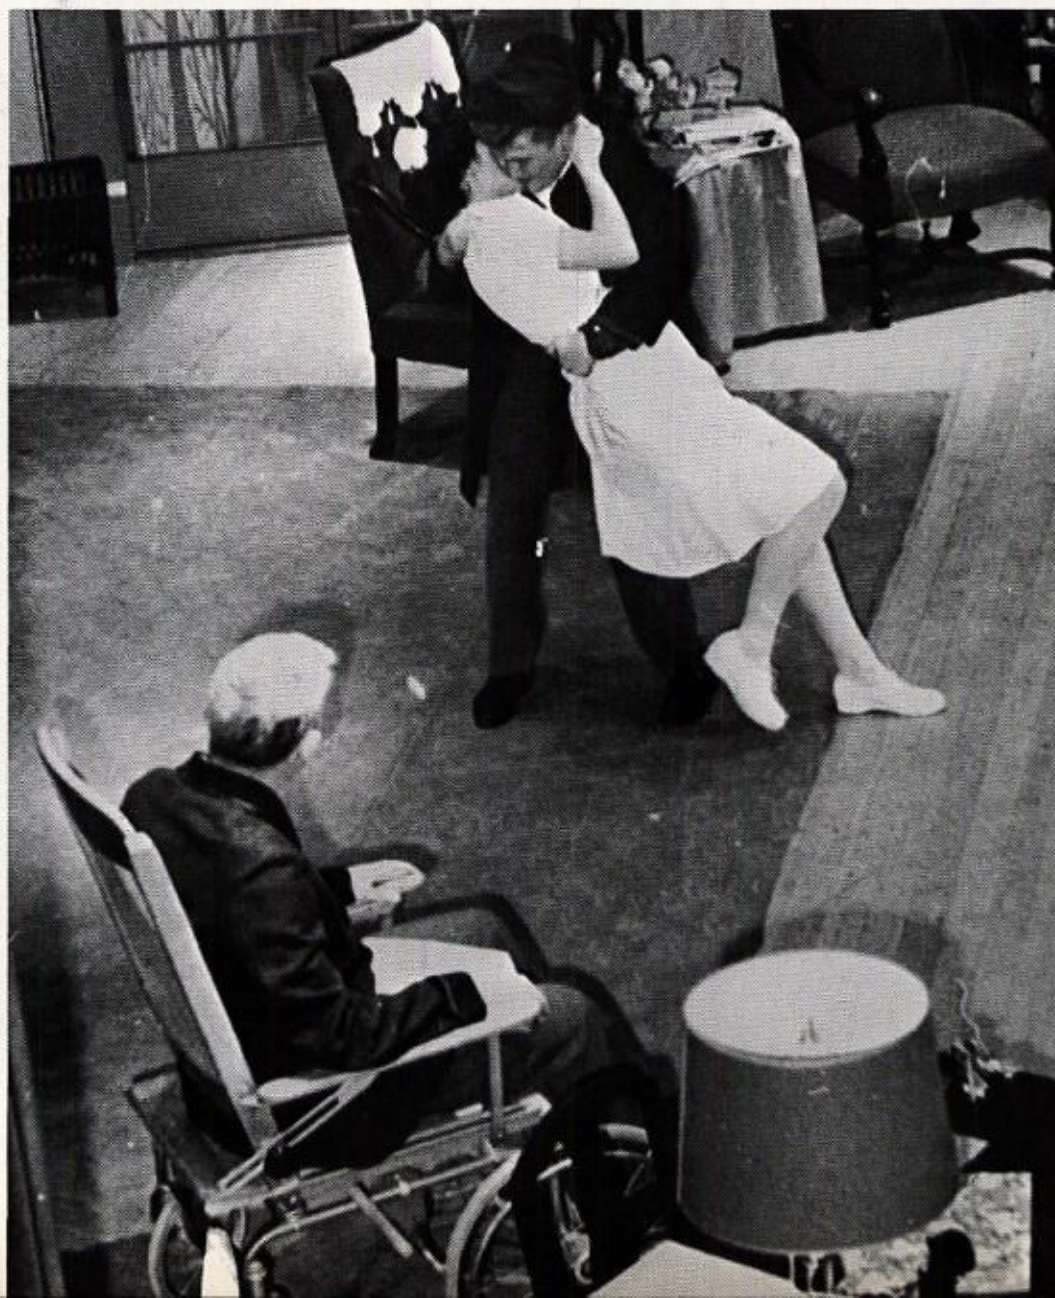

Terry Jones embraces Mr. Whiteside's nurse, played by Sue Swanson, in his mad love scene.

DIRECTOR'S GRIEF

"No, no, Cindy! Put a little oomph into it. Look happy. You're not walking in your sleep, you know. At this rate we're never going to get this play out. The Man Who Never Got to Dinner—that is what we'll have to call this play."

"Chin up. Rhapsodize! Improvise! Look jubilant! I want a little gusto in your voice. Throw yourself into it. Raise your arms to the sky. Let your audience be captivated in the scene. Here, let me show you. Put a little elegance into your hands. Pretend you are creating a masterpiece, and that it is awaiting your final touch before the world will cherish it to their hearts."

"Pu-u-u-leze! We are counting on you, Cindy. Just do me a favor. Do your audience a favor. Now imagine. The stage is set. You are appearing. A hush falls over the audience as they await your opening. You walk out silently and then confound them with your cry. You will make this play. Everything hinges on how well you play your part."

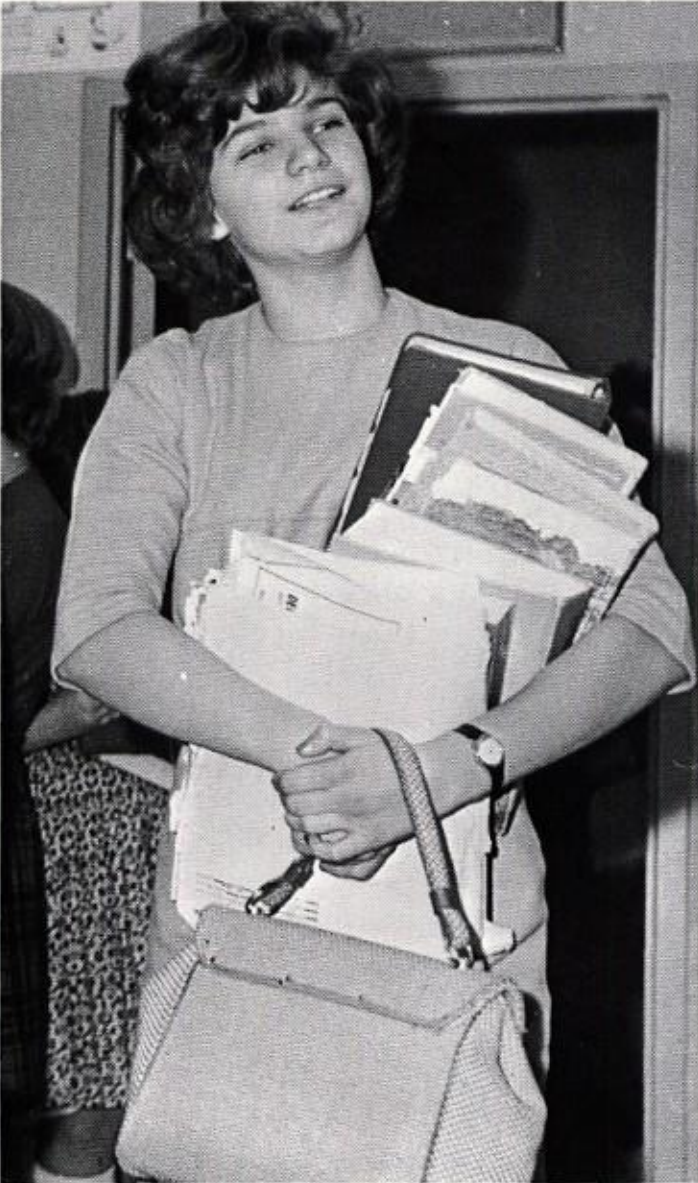

Mr. Ralph Bielenberg quietly sits down and awaits Cindy's entrance. Cindy walks slowly onto the stage. Everything is silent. She looks hesitant. "Now, what was it he said? Oh yes, rhapsodize—what's that?" The auditorium is suddenly filled with her cry as she jumps up, lifting her arms high above her head.

"Now let's sing!" she screams.

CUSTER, KING, PIUS FALL

This year's varsity football team, under the expert coaching of Ray Hendrickson, and Line Coach Roger Hytinen, completed its grid season with a record of four wins as opposed to two losses. They defeated Oak Creek's "B" team, Custer's "B" team, Pius's "B" team, and King's "B" team.

The team members who carried most of the load this year were linemen Bob Berdan, Jim Justus, Dan Nemoir, and Ken Oliver. Dave Ovshak, Scott Riewer, Keith Shepard, and Dick Witte were the major players who composed the backfield. These boys could not have done the whole job alone. They were backed by Mike Schnuck, Ray Fuchs, Tom Wiederstein, Jerry Wolfgram, Mike Kestin, Chuck Hackney, and others. Showing steady improvement this year, many of these boys could be assets to the team in the future.

The sophomore team also showed many prospects, considering that a number of the best sophomores played with the varsity team throughout the year. The sophomore record of five wins and one loss is a good indication that in years to come, Marshall should become one of the major contenders for the city conference crown.

When asked for a comment, Head Coach Ray Hendrickson replied, "With the addition of the top sophomores to the varsity team, Marshall should become a representative team next year. With luck and exceptional improvement, we could surprise many of the top city conference teams."

Harriers Finish Fourth In Sectionals

The Marshall Cross-Country team, led by the strong running of Captain John Seebert and the expert coaching of Mr. Leo Potochnik, finished its first season of varsity competition with a record of six wins and seven losses. The Eagles defeated Custer, Boys' Tech, Marquette, West, and Juneau.

In the city meet at Washington Park, the team placed eighth. Then, at the state sectional meet held at Brookfield East High School, they placed fourth. John Seebert, alone, qualified for the state meet at Hartford.

After a slow start the "B" team ended the season with a total of four wins and nine losses. Showing steady improvement, it defeated Juneau twice, and West and Boys' Tech once. In city competition they capped tenth place.

Consistently placing in varsity competition this year were: juniors, John Seebert, Robert Graves, and Steve Moldenhauer; and sophomores, Jim Kexel and Al Czecholinski.

Strong runners for the B team were: junior, Tom Mayer; sophomores, Doug Niebrugge and Gary Sweet; and freshman, Doug Krueger.

Heartbreaking Season

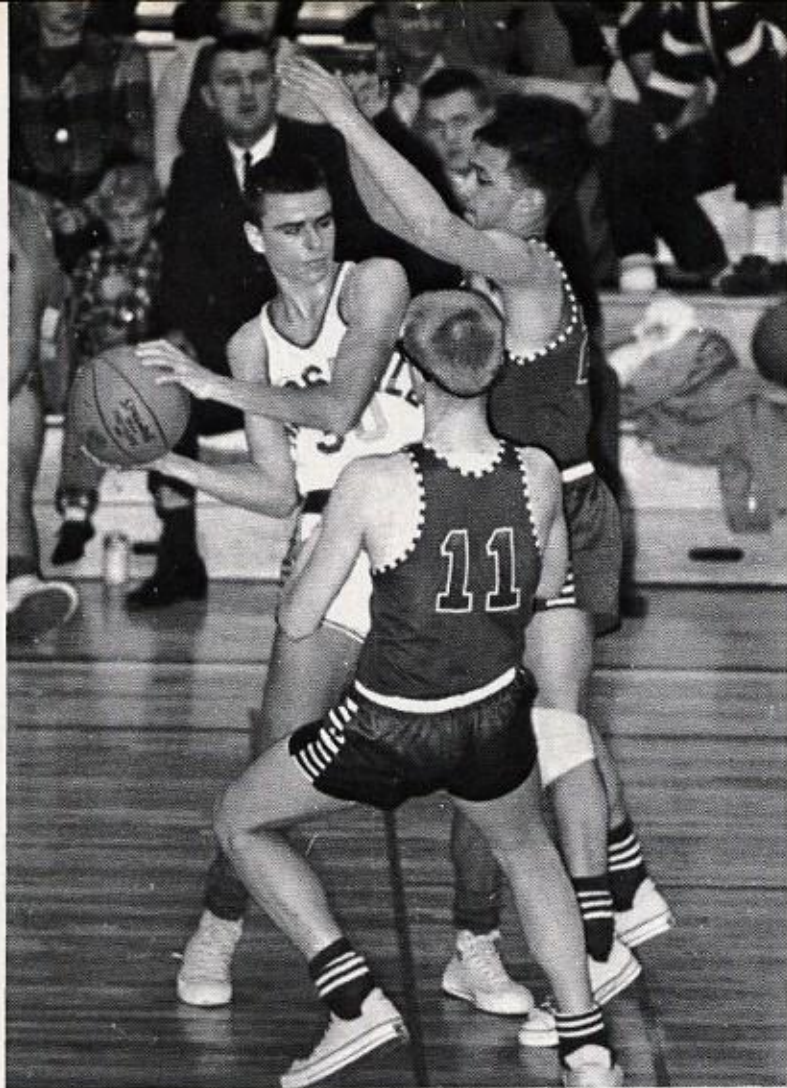

The varsity basketball team finished the season with a record of four wins and fourteen losses. The team defeated New Berlin, St. John's Military Academy, and Washington's "B" team.

The cagers made steady improvement against continued good opposition. Carrying the load this year were juniors Bow Downes, Greg Filandrinos, and Dick Witte. The sophomores were Larry Gardner, Robin Itzkowitz, and Jim Siegel. Next year the team will enter the city conference.

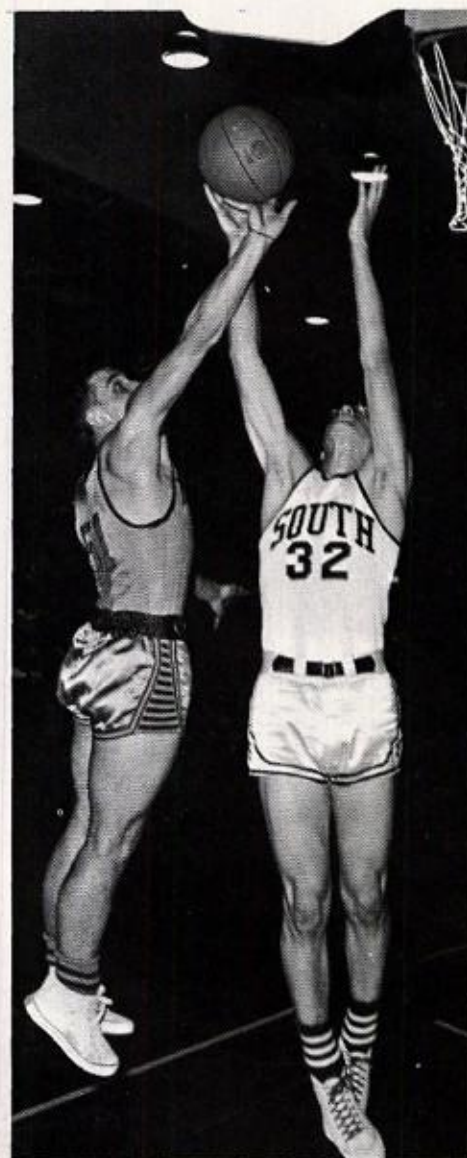

Completing the basketball season with a record of nine wins and nine losses, the sophomore team showed steady improvement. Players who saw the most action were Bob Barnett, Dennis Becker, Bill Kutz, Bob Graf, Pete Karegeannes, and Don Nunemaker.

Mainville Wins

The past season was the first one of varsity competition for the swimmers. Todd Mainville's winning of the city diving crown was the highlight of the year's campaign. Other important events were the team's participation in the Menomonee Falls Invitational and the State Sectional Meet.

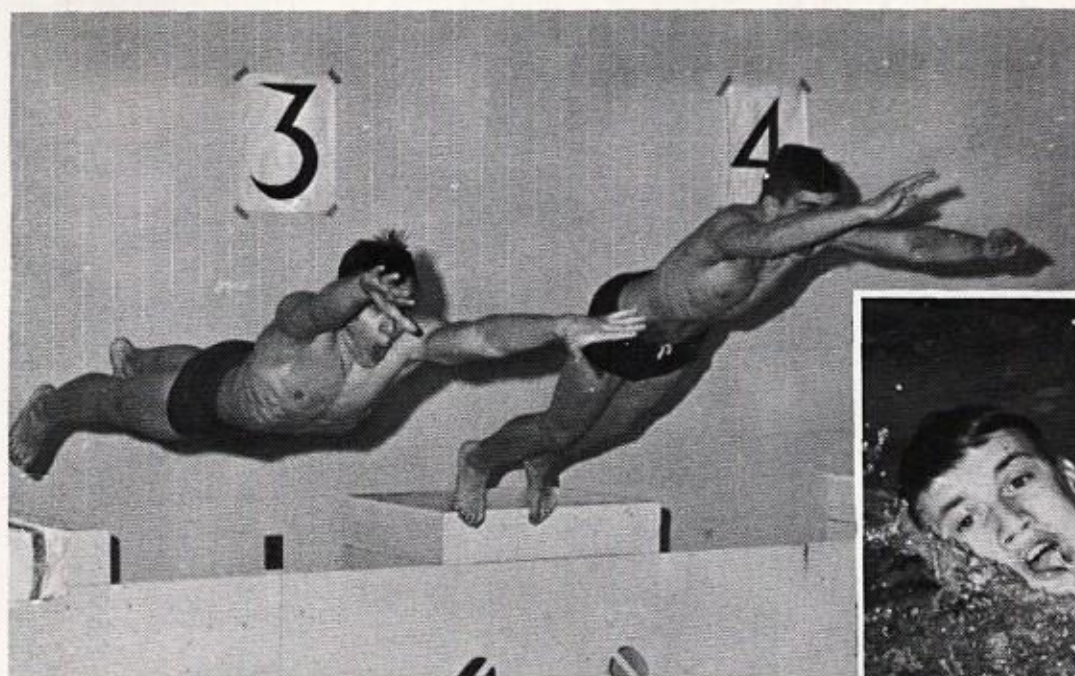

The mermen, coached by Mr. Robert Schweiger, had many obstacles to overcome. Young and inexperienced compared with the rest of the teams, Marshall's record was not spectacular. The boys gained valuable experience, however, while competing in the meets. Throughout the season vast improvements were made in the times of the events. This along with the youth of the team, provides much encouragement to Coach Schweiger for the coming years.

Grapplers Finish Second In Regional

Finishing its first season in the city conference, the wrestling team had a seven and five record. Considering that this was Marshall's first year, the record was even more impressive. City conference victims were Custer, King, Bay View, Washington, West, East, and Boy's Tech.

The biggest upset came in a 19-17 conquest of East which had been previously beaten by only top ranking Pulaski.

In the City Individual Championships Marshall was represented by Walt Ladik, who finished second, and Bob Kurzer and Jim Justus who finished fourth in their respective weight classes.

Marshall also held its own in the State Sectional by placing second with 79 points. Marshall produced four winners, Bob Kurzer, Bill Cech, Chuck Hackney, and Walt Ladik in this sectional. Of the four, Hackney went on to win in the semi-finals, and thereby qualify for the state finals in Madison.

First Season For Gymnasts

This year's gymnastics team, under the coaching of Mr. Fred Winter, did not participate in varsity competition. The season was extremely successful for the boys, who are sophomores. All participants showed improvement throughout the season.

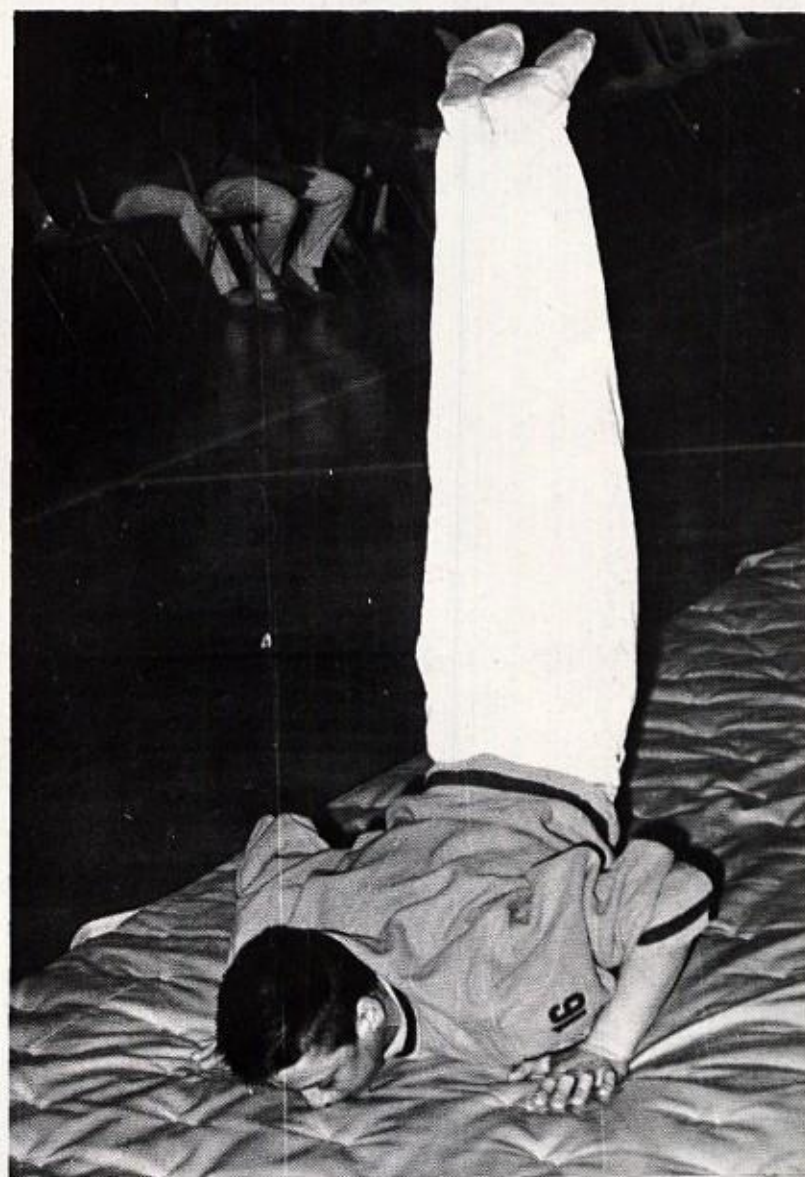

Outstanding performers this season were Roy Spasich, Tom Werginz, and Scott Noah. All three were all-around gymnasts in that they competed in all the events. Because the team was only in sophomore competition, there were no letters awarded. Three boys competed in the state meet, and if any of them should place, they will probably receive letters in the future. Numeral winners for gymnastics were Wally Busallachi, Andy Klitgaard, Scott Noah, Roy Spasich, Dave Strelka, and Ron Treants.

The team had a record thus far of five wins and four losses. They had one more meet yet to be completed as the Gavel went to press. After finishing this competition, some of the team members will compete in the city and state gymnastics meets.

Future Looks Bright

Led by the coaching of Head Coach Joe Tarantino, Distance Coach Leo Potochnik, and Weight Coach Ray Hendrickson, Marshall's track team looks forward to a successful season. The boys are more seasoned and have more confidence. Many of the boys have shown improvement over last year.

Participating in track this season were 103 boys. Dave Nicholson, Mike Stern, and Terry Nitka show promise in the sprints. The hurdle team is strong with Bill Venski and Lee Kottke running the high hurdles and Joe Palicki and Rod Sciborski in the lows.

The distance picture seems especially bright with John Seebert, Marshall's only track letterman, and Jim Kexel in the mile. Freshmen Rodrick Holloway and Doug Krueger also show promise. Running the 880 are Steve Moldenhauer and Bob Graves. Dick Schultz, Keith Shepard, and Don Nunemaker ran the 440.

Practice began early this year, for a few of the boys. Several distance runners began training outside as early as February 6. The sprinters practiced starts and baton passes in the halls.

Early this season, four boys, Dave Nicholson, Dave Ovshak, Mike Stern, and Gary Duval, participated in the Journal relays. Finishing second in the preliminary heat with a time of 1:12, they failed to qualify for the finals in the evening.

Showing a good finishing sprint is John Seebert, Marshall's number one miler.

A Marshall boy clears the bar in the high-jump at Custer.

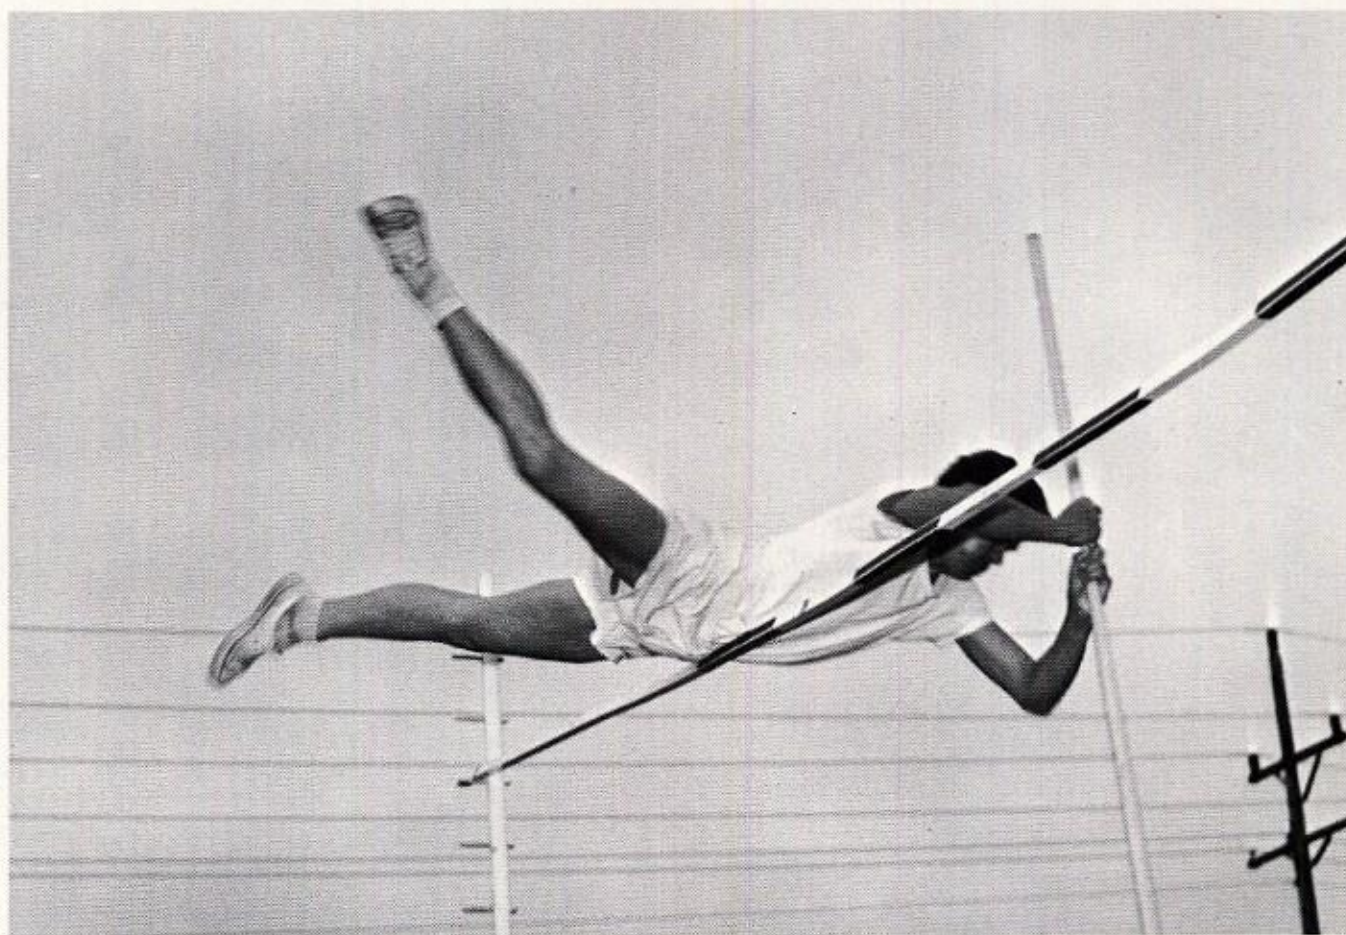

Bill Venski and Lee Kottke fight for lead in the high hurdles against Custer's best.

Al Schmidt looks down field as he begins his spin in the discus event.

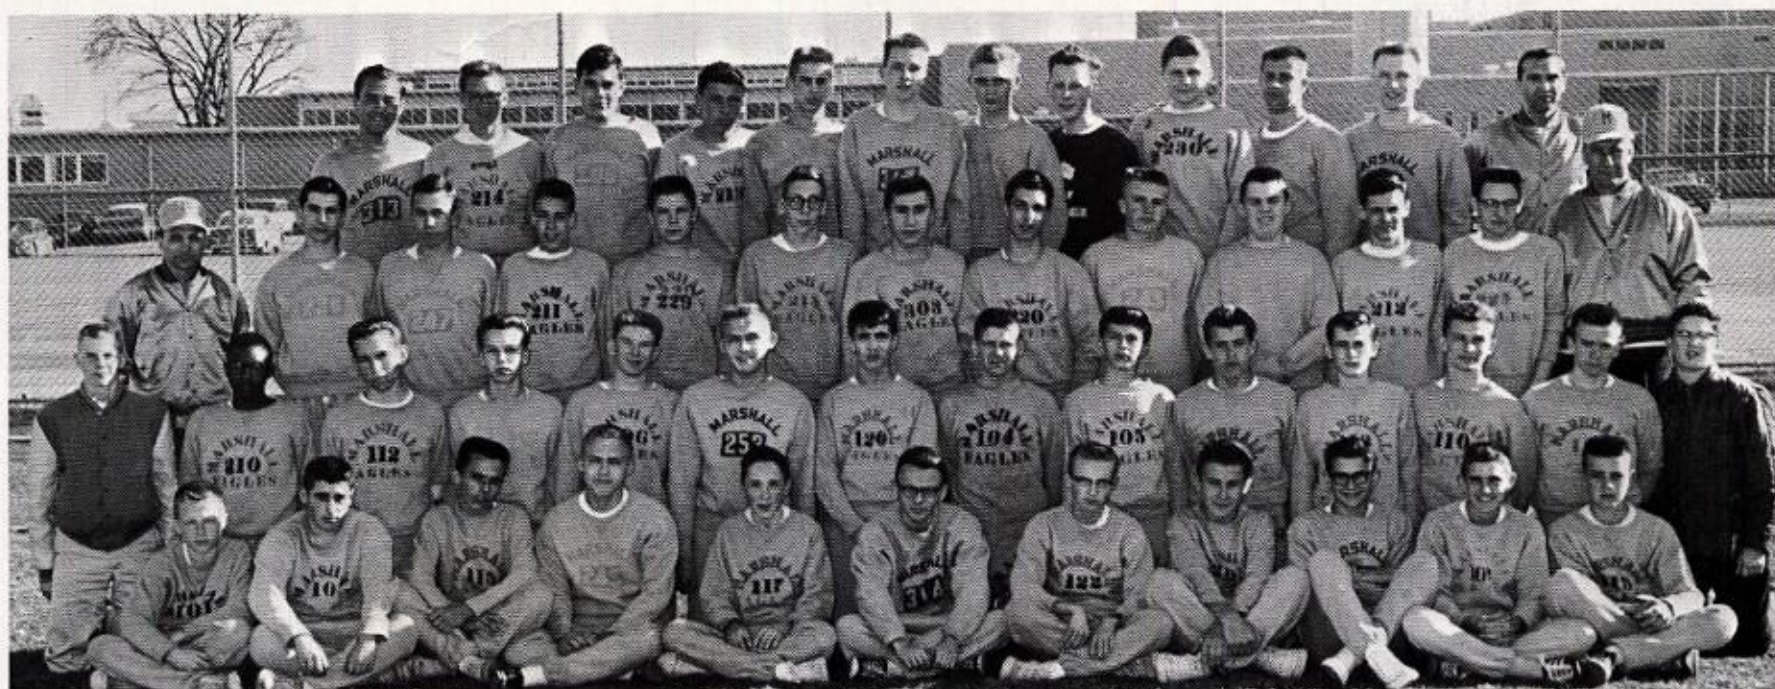

Dave Nicholson breaks the tape in the 100 yd. dash in winning time.

Tony Frank puts forth his best performance of the season in a dual meet with Custer.

Old Team Returns

The Varsity Baseball team is playing for the first time a full twenty-four game city conference schedule. In addition to that, the team also participated in the State Baseball Tournament, which was held at the beginning of May.

On March 18th, about seventy-five boys went out for the varsity and "B" baseball teams. After a rugged training program, the teams were whittled down to the best eighteen boys on the varsity, and twenty-five on the sophomore squad.

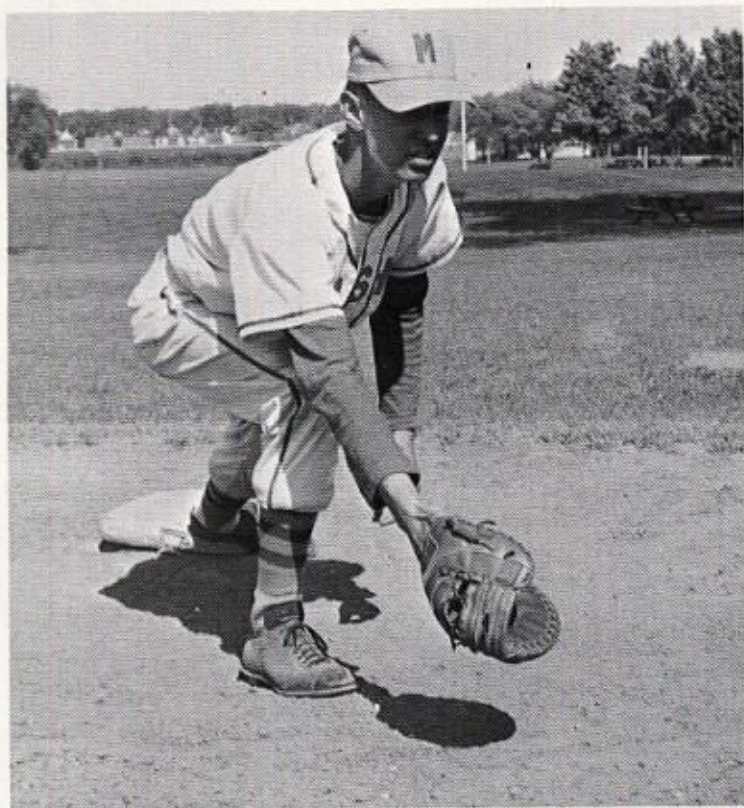

The coaches of the two teams are Head Coach Mr. Roger Hytinen, varsity, and Assistant Coach Mr. Kurt Rollman, "B" team. Head Coach Hytinen anticipated a successful season on the strength of a good team last year. He also felt that there was some very fine potential among the juniors and sophomores that composed the varsity. After gaining some experience by means of rugged games, the Eagles should develop into a strong unit.

Pitcher Robin Itzkowitz awaits the sign and sizes up the batter.

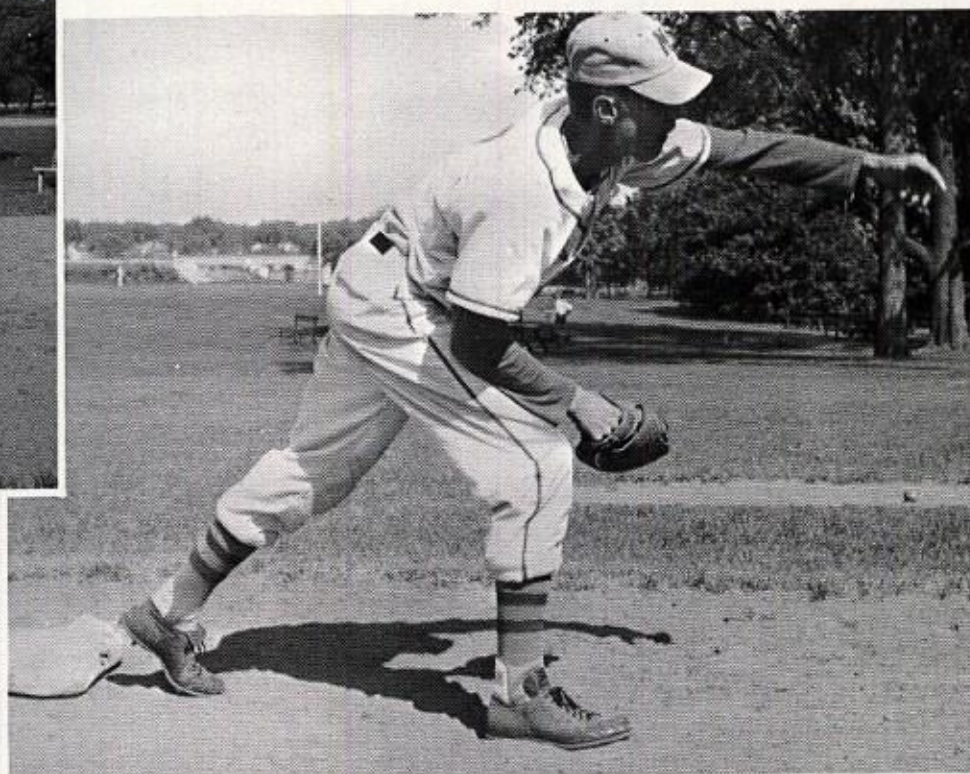

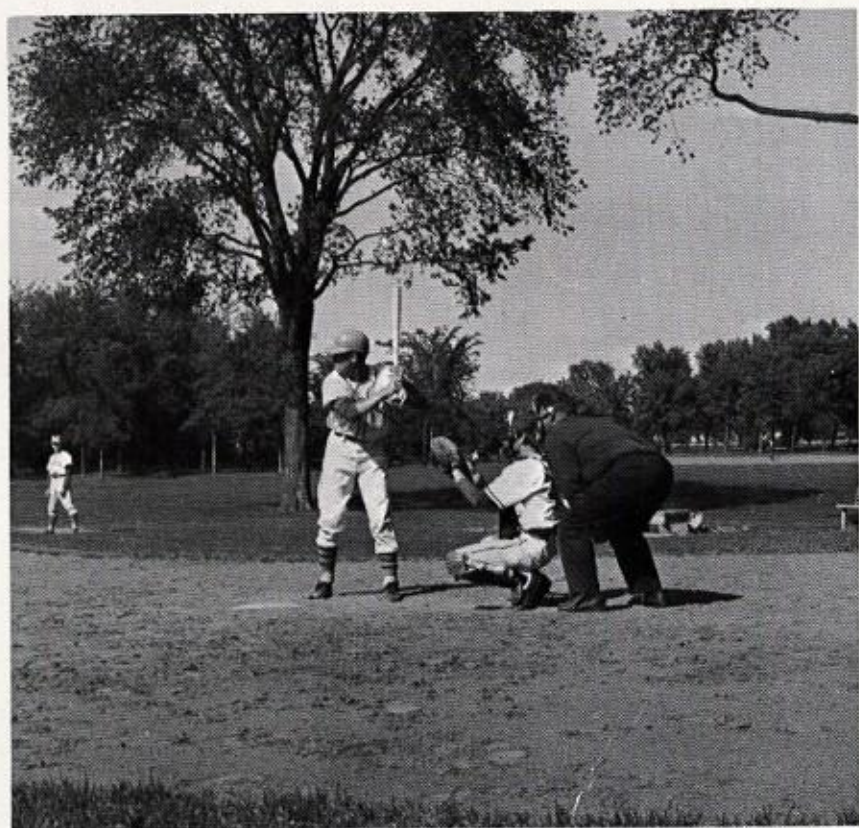

Shortstop Norm Mishelow awaits anything coming his way.

Terry O'Neill waits casually as teammates line up putts on Currie Park's sixth green.

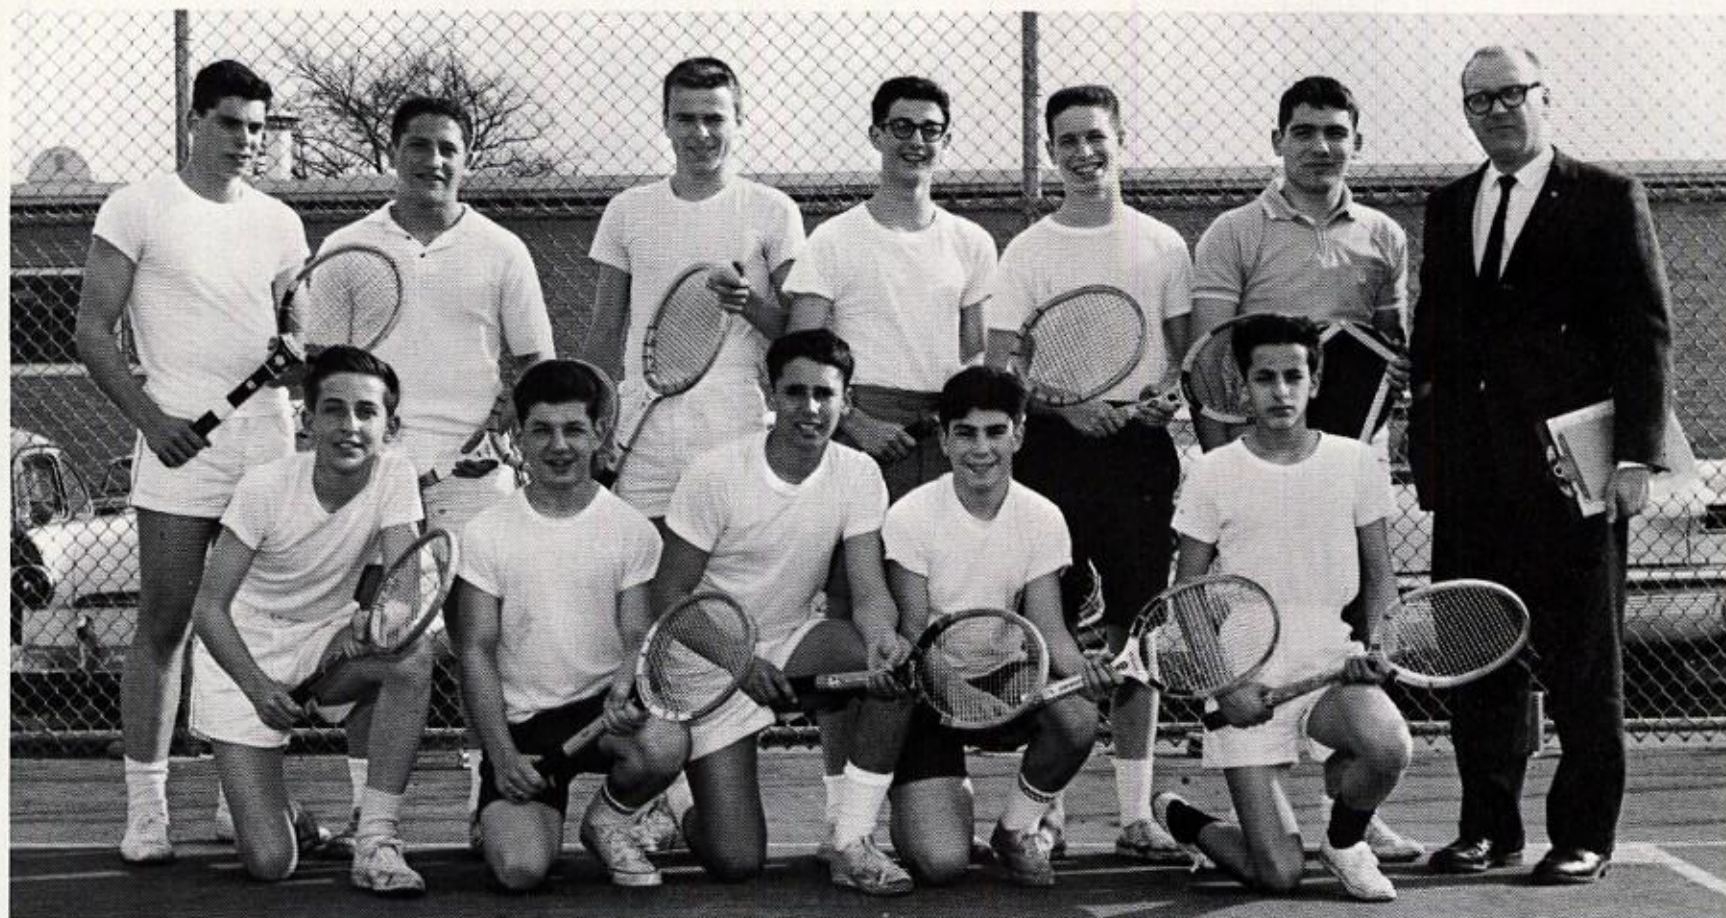

High Hopes Held

This year's golf team, coached by David Fraser, should be able to finish in the first division in the City conference. The team will play several matches during the season at a number of local golf courses. Among them are Currie Park, Brown Deer Park, and Greenfield Park. April twenty-third is their first match.

Last year the team had an even season and hopes to do as well this year. Four of last year's top boys are returning this year. They are Gary Paler, Richard Margolis, John Rahl, and Terry O'Neill. The team consists of four varsity players and four on the "B" team.

TENNIS

Additions Useful

The tennis team coached by Mr. Walter Sohn, began a full schedule of matches on April 10. The team in its first varsity season played King, Custer, Bay View, Washington, East, North, Lincoln, Juneau, Boy's Tech, West, South, and Pulaski.

"Last year the team had a fair season and the boys learned quite a lot," remarked Mr. Sohn when asked for a comment. Dave Heber who is now a junior finished second in the City Freshman-Sophomore Singles Tournament. Tom Wilson and Jeff Holub had a successful season in the double event last year.

This season Mr. Sohn expects an upper division finish. The same boys will be back and with the addition of several new boys the team should have a very good year.

CHEERLEADERS

Top Row: Rosie Stevens, Linda Margason, Barb Chittero
Front Row: Rita Radtke, Barb Nagy, Carol Churney, Renee Belfor, Carol Stelzl

The cheerleaders are divided into two squads, the varsity, and the "B" squad. There are eight girls in the varsity, and five in the "B" squad. Both groups practice every Wednesday after school in the girls' gym. Throughout the year, the girls work hard promoting school spirit at football and basketball games.

Tryouts are held in spring and last for about a month. During this time the girls learn the basic motions of cheerleading and polish their performances. The squad is open to any girl who is a sophomore or older. The top eight girls are chosen.

Mrs. Shultis, cheerleading advisor, instructs Rita Radtke on the proper way of doing a split.

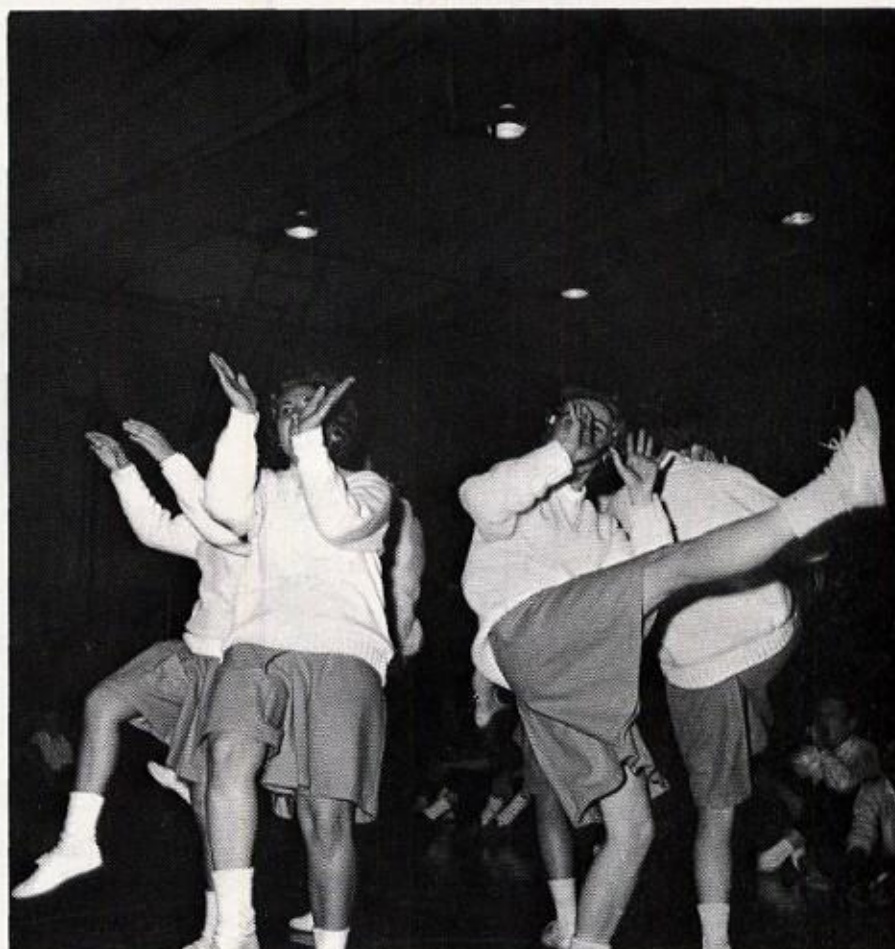

Leading Marshall fans, Carol Churney cheers her team on.

At basketball games our cheerleaders always set the pace.

"B" team cheerleaders, yelling a cheer, help promote team spirit.

Barb Boylan and Karen Burg ably do a table.

The Girls Athletic Association is a club which strives not only to keep girls physically fit but also to develop grace and co-ordination.

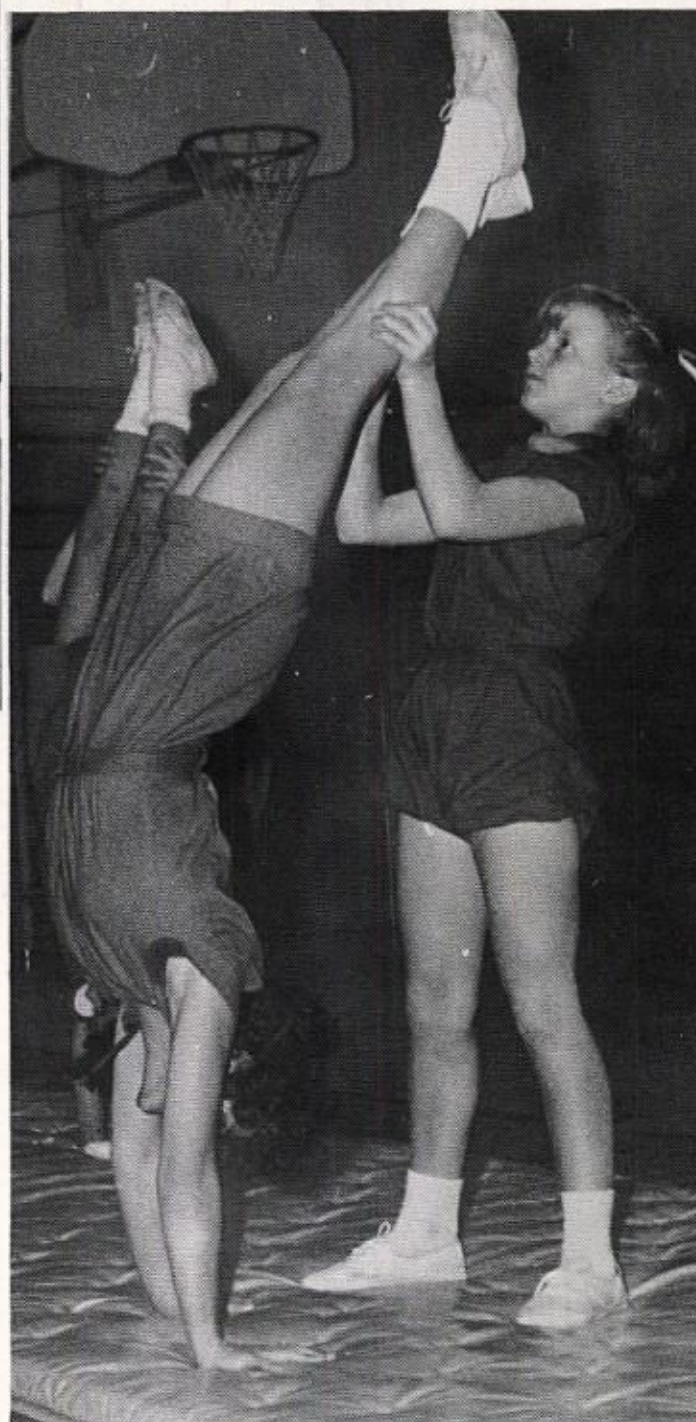

This organization is open to any girl who is interested in sports. A few of the sports offered are volleyball, softball, basketball, and apparatus, plus many more interesting activities.

The G.A.A. consists of a junior and senior governing board. The girls on this board decide what sports they would like to have.

G.A.A. is based on a point system. After a girl earns one hundred and fifty points, she receives a G.A.A. emblem. If a girl earns three hundred points, she receives a Marshall "M" similar to the boys' "M". At the end of the year there is a G.A.A. banquet at which the awards are given.

Colleen Schmechel and Jackie Walen demonstrate their championship ability with a tipoff.

Two visiting girls perform a handstand during the Junior G.A.A. playday.

Miss Sabbath and Janice Anthuber assist Rita Radtke in the chest stand.

Two of the many busy groups are Miss Esther Heiden's Modern Dance classes. Sixty girls are divided according to their ability, the more advanced in the dance ensemble, and the beginners in the dance class. The dance class and ensemble meet on alternate days.

The main project for the dance ensemble this year was preparing for the Musical, "Showtime on Broadway." Under Miss Heiden's direction the ensemble performed in two of the featured dances "Steam Heat" and "West Side Story." They received help from the dance class in choreography for their third number, "Music Man."
